

Area leaders laud National Press Week

To the Editor:

"It gives me great pleasure to officially proclaim the week of Oct. 10 as National Press Week for the City of Romulus.

"For the past 92 years, the Romulus Roman has consistently met its obligation to responsibility, fair play, impartiality, accuracy, truthfulness and sincerity.

"It has served as a vital link among our residents and between them and their government.

"A city's newspaper is a reflection of the community it serves, and, it is an indication of the progress and forward movement of our city over the past two years, that the Roman is currently growing and prospering.

"We applaud your efforts and congratulate you on your progress.

"We wish you many more years of continued success and achievement as our city's newspaper of record."

Sincerely yours,
James C. Stewart,
Mayor of Romulus

To the Editor:

The week of October 10 has been designated "National Press Week" and we would like to take this opportunity to congratulate you and your staff for effectively serving your community.

As residents of western Wayne County — and as elected officials, we have had the unique opportunity of working with you on several important community issues. We know firsthand your dedication toward community betterment. Not only do you strive to bring the "news" to the people of this area — but you are "newsmakers" in that you don't hesitate to point out and promote actions and activities that lead to improvements in the community you serve.

We urge you to keep up the good work. A good community newspaper is an asset — especially in metropolitan areas where we need a "sense of neighborhood."

Accepts tribute from Governor

David J. Willett, owner and publisher of Associated Newspapers (ANP), accepts special resolution last week from Gov. William G. Milliken for his outstanding efforts in the field of journalism. The special tribute from the State of Michigan was made during national observance of National Press Week. Willett last year acquired the chain of six weekly newspapers from Panax Corp. of East Lansing, and had embarked upon an aggressive expansion program designed to bring more adequate news coverage to the area served by ANP. His father, Wes Willett, formerly co-owned the newspaper chain. (Photoby ANP Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko.)

State honors Willett for journalism efforts

An outstanding honor was accorded David J. Willett, owner and publisher of Associated Newspapers (ANP) last week by Gov. William G. Milliken during observance of National Press Week.

With the help of Rep. Robert Law (R-Livonia, Westland) and Rep. Tom Brown (D-Westland), a special resolution was given to Willett by the State of Michigan in recognition of his efforts in the field of journalism.

In accepting the resolution, Willett said, "It is with the humility and pride that I accept this honor from Gov. Milliken and the State of Michigan. I accept it on behalf of not only myself, but my entire staff of dedicated employees.

"Associated is in the community communication business, and we are trying hard to help the communities we serve communicate more effectively with themselves.

"This special tribute is an indication that we are moving in the right direction," Willett said.

Since acquiring the chain of six weekly newspapers last November, Willett has launched a spirited and concerted campaign to bring improved news coverage to the areas served by ANP.

The weekly chain was operated by Willett's father, Wes Willett and his partner, Ray Clift, for more than 20 years. The chain prospered under their management, and in 1967, was judged the outstanding suburban weekly publication in the state during the annual Michigan Press Association contest.

After Panax bought the newspaper chain in 1970, it began a daily operation, The Daily Eagle, with the exception of The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman, which remained as weeklies. When Willett reacquired ANP, he resumed operation on a weekly basis in all areas.

ANP now covers the communities of Wayne, Westland, Canton Township, Belleville and Inkster, as well as the townships of Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron.

Since taking over the helm of the newspaper chain, Willett has pushed to make his publications hard-hitting and objective in their coverage of local news happenings. Editorials, which appear each week, pertain to recent news events and take definite stands on issues involved.

Included in the list of new accomplishments were: Meet the Candidate Night, aimed at enlightening the public on candidates and issues in local elections; ANP-sponsored cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) classes to acquaint the general public in lifesaving measures in event of heart attacks; ANP-sponsored CB Jamboree, which brought CB enthusiasts together to share mutual interests; and "coffee clatches" held at the Wayne and Belleville offices to improve communication with the public with their help and suggestions.

Future plans call for modernization of equipment and procedures, all aimed at bringing a better newspaper to the reading public, both in physical appearance and news content.

Deputies crack ring burglarizing area

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A four-month investigation has broken up a seven-man burglary ring which stole more than $60,000 in five local communities during past two years, according to Wayne County Sheriff's Detectives.

Police said the 36 cases of breaking and entering in Romulus, Westland, Canton, Inkster and Sumpter Township were done by a group of seven young men, described as white males between the ages of 19-24.

All but one of the seven defendants are in custody and have been sentenced or are awaiting sentencing, police said.

Scheduled to be sentenced next week is Freddie Joseph Stansberry, 21, 28227 Eton, Westland, who has pleaded guilty and was the alleged leader of the group, according to Det. Ed Lindberg the police officer responsible for cracking the theft ring.

Others apprehended in connection with the burglaries are the following:

Rainer Herman Trousdale, 24, 7166 Dodge, Romulus, who was sentenced to 2½-5 years in Jackson Prison.

James Franklin Morrill, 19, 7330 Hollywood, Romulus, who has pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and is awaiting sentence.

Steven Mitchell Elliott, 22, of Marysville, Mich., who is awaiting trial.

Ronald Craig Allen, 23, of Novi, who has pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and is awaiting sentencing.

Dennis Lawrence Rubright, 24, of Wyandotte, who has been bound over to stand trial.

John Earl Silver, 23, of Port Huron, who was out on bond and did not appear in court when scheduled to be sentenced, police reported.

Lindberg was extremely pleased to see the robberies solved, he said.

"We had a little evidence when I was assigned to the case in March, but I waited until I got something more substantial," Lindberg said.

"Many of the break-ins were of gas stations in Romulus so we kept our eyes on it and waited until we could nab all seven, rather than two or three," Lindberg said. The members of the B & E ring all wore gloves and carried walkie-talkies.

Lindberg, a three-year member of the Wayne County Sheriff's Detective Bureau, named Stansberry as the leader of the group. His surveillance of Stansberry led to the apprehension of the others, he said.

One of the seven defendants came forward in April and volunteered information on who was involved in the theft ring.

"From our contacts, I learned that Silver was staying in Port Huron," Lindberg said. "We ordered him arrested by Port Huron authorities on June 24. Silver already had another warrant out for his arrest. When we talked with him, he admitted his part in the Romulus gas station holdup and several others."

Acting on additional information, Lindberg said he was led to Trousdale, who was arrested on June 29 and who subsequently admitted the break-in as well as other burglaries.

The "link" then led to Morrill and Elliott, who both admitted their part in the first break-in, Lindberg said.

"Stansberry split when he learned the heat was getting closer," said Lindberg, who has spent 11 years with Wayne County Sheriff Dept., the first eight as a patrol officer.

"Word was received that Trousdale drove Stansberry to I-75 where he was reportedly ready to head for Florida. However, we felt that Stansberry might still be around and I visited the home of his friend to see if he was there," Lindberg said.

The detective said he found Stansberry living in a pup tent in the yard of a friend. Although he resisted arrest, the 5-11, 145-pound Stansberry was apprehended by Lindberg, who was by himself.

"After talking to all five defendants, we learned that Dennis Rubright and Ronald Allen were also involved in some of the break-ins," Lindberg said.

Lindberg said that only about one percent of the stolen goods has been recovered and police are still looking for the "fence", the one who sells the stolen property.

"We want the people around this area to know that the Wayne County Detective Bureau is doing a good job," Lindberg said.

"So many times our work goes unnoticed and area residents don't hear of the crimes we solve and the protection we give," Lindberg said.

Lindberg also highly praised his fellow detective Robert Pond for his assistance in cracking the B & E ring.

However, even as this story goes to press, the pair of Wayne County Sheriff detectives are working hard on still other B & E cases.

Stewart backs Oakley, 10 others for election

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart came out strongly this week and urged support of William Oakley for mayor, Leonard Folmar for city clerk, and Helen Gallien for city treasurer.

Stewart also asked voters at the Nov. 8 general election to elect the following eight candidates to Romulus City Council: Ray Cantrell, Fred Junior Block, Mary Ann Banks, Brooker Edwards, Dave Ferdon, Bob Martin, Gerry Canejo and Jimmy Raspberry.

Stewart was eliminated in the primary election Sept. 12 in a three-way duel with Oakley and Terry L. Troutt. Troutt won the primary with 2412 votes, 98 ahead of Oakley and almost 1,000 ahead of Stewart.

"I want to urge all the residents of Romulus to vote for Bill Oakley on Nov. 8," Stewart said. "Between the two candidates, I don't think there is any question who will do the better job."

Stewart praised Oakley's honesty and integrity and pledged his help in striving to see Romulus continue to move forward.

At the same time, Stewart dispelled any rumors he might help Troutt.

"It has come to my attention recently that rumors are being circulated around the city linking me with Terry Troutt's campaign for mayor," he said.

"I would like to publicly go on record and unequivocally put these rumors to rest once and for all.

"During my campaign, I have never supported Troutt, am not now supporting Troutt, nor will I ever support him and his gang of political opportunists.

"Furthermore, I have never urged my supporters to vote for Troutt and his slate. On the contrary, I am urging my supporters to work and vote for Bill Oakley to become the next mayor of Romulus."

Stewart said that after "the smear tactics and false innuendoes his (Troutt's) cronies spread about me," he wasn't likely to embrace Troutt.

Refusing to believe what he calls a reversal by Troutt's supporters, Stewart said, "They may reverse their stand and call me a nice guy. But the old-style, influence-peddling, power-mongering, wheeler-dealer days should remain buried where they have been for the past two years."

After detailing the virtues of Romulus and its potential for growth, Stewart described the type of leaders he feels the city needs.

"Romulus needs a government of elected officials dedicated to the principles of stable, orderly growth, coupled with a deep and abiding concern for the hopes and desires of the individual.

"We need a government dedicated to the people and in turn with its needs. We need leaders that seek reasonable answers to questions and a logical approach to problem solving," Stewart said.

He added, "Romulus needs independent thinkers who can work together with the administration for the good of the city."

Of snow and crowds

Ski operators eye second record season

Michigan's ski operators hope lightning will strike twice to bring another season of record snow and crowds to the slopes, but with fewer than half expanding operations this winter, it appears the industry may be near its peak development at this time, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"There are two new state ski areas, but two others will not re-open this winter, and the number of lodges operating in Michigan remains at 58 for the second year," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "This would indicate that the state's ski industry has stabilized, and unless it can lure more out-of-state skiers away from resorts in the Northeast and the West, the major growth era may have ended."

Last year, Michigan's winter sports generated nearly $722 million in business, and a major contributor to this boom was the ski industry, which reported an average 20 percent increase in both crowds and profits.

Ski operators are hopeful of a 10 to 15 percent increase in skiers over last year's record, but their optimism is tempered by memories of how easily they can be hurt by the weather and change in the economy, Rake noted.

The two new lodges opening this year are Cole Creek near Comins in northeast Lower Michigan and Blackjack near Bessemer in the western Upper Peninsula.

Cole Creek formerly operated as Fon-Ro in the late 1960s and reopened under its new name last January, Ratke said.

Cole Creek has two beginner-intermediate runs serviced by rope tows. Cross-Country skiing is offered on nearly 30 miles of surrounding trails. The ski center includes a dining room, lounge and ski shop with rental equipment.

Blackjack has been six years in the making and offers three double chairlifts and two rope tows serving 12 runs spread along a hill with a 460-foot vertical drop. It also features a cafeteria and ski rental shop.

Not operating this year are Walloon Hills, one of four Boyne Country complexes in the state, and Newaygo County Winter Sports Park near Newaygo. Walloon Hills closed due to lack of interest by the public in a lodge that offered low-cost weekend skiing. Erosion caused by off-road vehicles at Newaygo Winter Park was blamed for its closure.

Here is "what's new" at state ski areas for this winter.

SOUTHEAST MICHIGAN: Mt. Brighton near Brighton, added a 600-foot expert-only run billed as the region's steepest. Also new is a 1,600-foot intermediate-advanced slope served by a 2-place chairlift. A double rope tow and ski shop have been added and rental stock increased to 2,000 pairs. Mt. Gramplan, Oxford, lists a new 1,300 square-foot ski shop with complete alpine and cross-country equipment.

EAST MICHIGAN: Mt. Maria, Spruce, has two new intermediate runs of 2,000 and 2,500 feet. Cross-country ski equipment and three miles of added trails also are available. Mio Mountain, Mio, added a 1,100-foot intermediate run. Snowmaking capability also was increased by half. Mott Mountain near Farwell increased its snowmaking equipment one-third. Bintz Apple Mountain near Freeland added 200 new sets of rental skis and upped its snowmaking capability 25 percent. Snowsnake, Harrison, now offers cross-country skiing, rental and lessons and a newly widened advanced downhill slope.

WEST MICHIGAN: Timber Ridge, Gables, cut a new 600-foot beginner run and two advanced-beginner runs of 2,000 and 1,800 feet. Also added were a triple-chairlift, three rope tows and 400 sets of rental equipment. Royal Valley, Buchanan, sports two new 4-place chairlifts which triple its capacity, plus a 1,500-foot beginner run and an extended advanced-beginner run. Swiss Valley, Jones, reports a new 1,200-foot intermediate run and a poma tow, plus added cafeteria space. Cannonsburg now has more than six miles of cross-country trails and 200 sets of cross-country rental equipment, a new 12,000 square-foot cafeteria, added parking and snowmaking capability. Crystal Mountain, Thompsonville, installed a 4-place chairlift, expanded its cocktail lounge and offers weekday nursery service. Caberfae, Cadillac, increased snowmaking capability 30 percent and increased night lighting one-third. Expert runs were re-graded and a snack bar and sun deck also are new. Traverse City Holiday doubled its snowmaking equipment.

Sugar Loaf, Cedar, remodeled its lodge. Boyne Highlands, Harbor Springs, doubled its cafeteria seating, and Lost Pines, Harietta, reports a modernized lodge.

UPPER PENINSULA: Brule Mountain, Iron River, boasts the region's biggest snowmaking system, plus three new chalets sleeping up to 18 persons each. The ski shop and sun deck also have been expanded. Quaal, Ishpeming, and Mt. Zion, Ironwood, added rope tows, while Porcupine Mountain, Ontonagon, installed a new T-bar. Gladstone can be rented for ski parties.

MLCC revokes Emprise Corp. liquor licenses

According to Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, represented by Commissioner Thomas A. VanTiem Sr., has agreed with his position and revoked the four state liquor licenses held by subsidiaries of the Emprise Corp. The licenses cover liquor concession operations at Tiger Stadium, Detroit Race Course, Hazel Park Race Course and Northville Downs Race Course.

Kelley's request that the Emprise licenses be revoked stemmed from a 1972 conviction of that corporation for interstate racketeering. That conviction was by a jury in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles. The charge in that case involved Emprises' involvement in a conspiracy to purchase a hidden interest in a Las Vegas gambling casino.

After the conviction Kelley asked the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to revoke the liquor licenses held by the four Emprise subsidiaries operating in Michigan. The commission initially refused to take that action. Appeals by Kelley to the Ingham County Circuit Court resulted in an order for the commission to hear more evidence in the case. That evidence was presented in hearings held this year.

Emprise Inc. is a Buffalo, N.Y., firm that is privately owned by the Jacobs family. The firm is one of the nation's largest sports concessionaires.

Throughout the proceedings, Emprise had argued that because it was the parent corporation and not the subsidiaries that had been found guilty of interstate racketeering, the licenses held by the subsidiaries should not be in jeopardy.

Kelley said: "The rules of the Liquor Control Commission are very clear in this area. Those who have been convicted of crimes may not hold a Michigan liquor license. I am pleased that Commissioner VanTiem had not let the paper maze of corporations and subsidiaries cloud the real issue here. The holders of these licenses have been convicted of a crime, therefore, under Michigan law their licenses should be revoked."

Rule 436.3 of the Liquor Control Commission states: "No licensee shall engage in any illegal act on or beyond his licensed premises."

Emprise now has 20 days to appeal VanTiem's decision to the entire Liquor Control Commission. VanTiem's order revoking the license calls for the licenses to be turned in by Monday.

ELECT

WILLIAM M. OAKLEY
MAYOR OF ROMULUS

THE ONLY DIRECT LINE BETWEEN YOU and the GOVERNMENT YOU DESERVE

Communication: If elected your Mayor, I will give great attention to developing full, clear and honest communication between taxpayers, their city, and the school system, because I believe there should be nothing secretive about your government or what or how it is performing for you.

I also believe the Mayor's Office should be more than just a room in City Hall. I believe the Mayor's "Office" should also be in the community — wherever you and I meet.

There are other issues and ideas I hope to be able to share with you in person during the course of this campaign. In the meantime, may I continue our communication now by asking that you please share with me your questions, your comments, and yes, your criticisms too!

BENEFITS OF MOURNING CUSTOMS

Attending a wake, making a condolence call, offering help to the bereaved — all are two-way acts of caring.

These mourning practices directly benefit the bereaved family and one's self. In her book, "Death, the Final Stage of Growth," Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross advises that the purpose of mourning should be to allow for a full outpouring of grief. Mourning becomes the opportunity for the family to re-group after the loss of a member, especially to be able, then, to continue living, loving, working and enjoying one and other.

By getting this outpouring of grief early, we help to prevent pent-up feelings of guilt and regret from blossoming later with psychologically unhealthy repercussions. "Getting it out of your system" as soon as possible is appropriate therapy in most instances, experts agree.

This is one of a series of brief articles we hope we will help. You may ask us questions for yourself and of public interest.

State Ed Department offers some answers

A few weeks ago a 7-member delegation from Romulus visited with educators in the State Department of Education to get answers to pressing questions about the school situation in the city.

Headed by Mrs. Sandra Langley, who arranged the meeting, School Superintendent James Garfield and School Board President Gerald Budd, the group met for six hours with Dr. Phillip J. O'Leary, acting director of education management; Lloyd Van Raalte, director of transportation, and two of their aides.

The group reported that the meeting was very helpful and informative.

Included in the group were Kristi Stephens, senior class valedictorian at Romulus High School with a 4.0 grade average; Ken Berlin; Evelyn Hopewell and Barbara Schuster.

Upon returning home, they gave their impressions of the meeting with state educators, which answered approximately 100 questions the group had accumulated from interested Romulus parents.

"There is a need for re-education of the public as to what the state's responsibility is, the local board's responsibility, and the parent's responsibility in the problems we are now facing," Mrs. Langley said.

"The State Department of Education doesn't have the power everyone thinks it has," Mrs. Schuster added.

Berlin's reaction was: "There is a definite need for educational reform throughout the legislative system."

Miss Stephens was surprised at how little the State Department of Education can do.

"I'm amazed at how many people believe that a State Department of Education

'takeover' of the Romulus School District would solve our problems, when, in reality, there is nothing they can do," she said.

Informational meetings, to get the facts to the people before the Nov. 8 millage election, have been arranged by the group. There was a meeting Oct. 13 at Merriman School and Oct. 17 at Mt. Pleasant School.

There will be meetings at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Wick School and at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 27 at Hayti School, to answer questions interested parents and other Romulus residents have.

When the group visited Lansing, Mrs. Langley took down the answers they received. Listed under five broad categories of state, school financing, local board, Transportation and Options, here is a list of the more pertinent questions and answers as given to the Romulus Roman by Mrs. Langley.

STATE:

Q: What is the State Department of Education's responsibility?

A: The major responsibility of the State Board of Education, as written in the constitution of the state, is to "serve as the general planning and coordination body for all public education".

The state board is responsible for implementing laws passed by the legislature, for dispensing school state aid funds, and for advising the legislature on the needs of local school districts.

Q: Define accreditation and its actual meaning to students?

A: Accreditation is a status symbol among schools. It is becoming less important as more emphasis is being put on the student's ability. There are two groups involved, University of Michigan and the North Central Group. Most colleges require entrance testing.

Q: What does the class rating of a district mean?

A: There are four class districts in Michigan, each determined by population. Romulus is a Third Class District. A Third Class District is one which has more than 2,400 students and less than 30,000 persons between the ages of five and 20.

In the middle 1950s with the incorporation of Hayti, Mt. Pleasant and Cory schools into our district, the people of Romulus voted to become a Third Class District.

SCHOOL FINANCING:

Q: State Aid — what are some of the categories and how are funds allocated?

A: Some of the categories of state aid are special education, vocational education, transportation, debt retirement, alternative program, and remedial reading. These funds are allocated by mandates of the legislature as defined in the State School Aid Acts.

Q: Explain how lottery benefits are divided.

A: There is no direct funding from lottery funds to local school districts. About $60 to $80 million goes into the general fund of the state and this comes back in the form of state aid to all Michigan school districts.

Q: Why can't the people pay for the paper and supplies used in the classrooms? It seems that would ease the load of the school district.

A: As the result of a 1970 court case — Ann Arbor vs. the State of Michigan — we have free education, including the furnishing of needed supplies.

LOCAL BOARD

Q: What are the responsibilities of the board members?

A: The first responsibility of board members is to represent the people in policies that affect the operation of our schools. The power of the board members would be to hire administrators, furnish materials for operating the school, build school buildings and maintain them, pay salaries and expenses, maintain library and playgrounds, develop courses of study, set length of school year (180 days is minimum to receive full state aid), provide transportation for pupils, if needed funds are available, and take school census.

Q: Can board president decide majority and what is a majority?

A: According to the bylaws the board operates under, the president can decide the majority. A majority would be four out of seven votes, unless the vote is predetermined, the majority would then be two-thirds, or five votes.

Q: How come the academic and vocational programs don't seem to balance?

A: The trend in our country is to prepare high school students with job skills before graduation. The reason for the program's imbalance is because the vocational program is federally funded, making more money available in this area.

TRANSPORTATION

Q: Can the board realistically expect children to walk in areas where there are 5-lane highways and busy intersections without stoplights and main roads with no sidewalks?

A: Because transportation and half days are both unpopular cuts, the board felt transportation (cuts) would be easier to accept than half days. Because we are a Third Class District, the board has the power to decide about busing when funds are not available. It is the parents' responsibility to see the child safely to school. The school district is responsible after the child sets foot on school property. The (State Department of Education has no power to this matter.

Q: Explain the reason for penalty of transportation of students under 1.5 miles.

A: The state reimburses 75 percent of the total cost of transportation above 1.5 miles. This cannot be seen as a penalty, although the district does have to assume full costs of transporting students under 1.5 miles.

WHAT IF? (OPTIONS)

Q: What is the possibility of State Department of Education taking over the Romulus School District?

A: The State Department of Education will not take over. The legislature has the power to approve an emergency loan, with the recommendation of the Department of Education, which would have to be paid back within five years at 6 percent interest.

Q: What are the pros and cons of dividing districts into two separate districts?

A: We received no "pro" comments, all were negative, citing reasons such as — building more schools to accommodate areas.

Candidates tell how to rid city of 'Cuckoo Nest' image

In last week's Romulus Roman, the following question was asked of the 14 candidates running for City Council and two candidates running for Mayor of Romulus in the Nov. 8 general election.

"What would you do, if elected, to rid the city of the 'Cuckoo's Nest' label attached to it by the news media?"

Following are the candidates who responded, and their answers:

RAY CANTRELL (Council): "The City Council has never done anything to warrant the label 'Cuckoo's Nest' being applied to Romulus. Whenever the name has come up, there has only been one elected official involved.

"Romulus is a young, vibrant community with unbounded potential. With responsible elected officials, Romulus will rid itself of this unjust label and provide quality government to all its citizens."

MARY ANN BANKS (Council): "A sensible attitude in government will allow for disagreement with out pettiness of personality clash.

"If elected to the council I pledge to always conduct myself in a mature, rational manner.

"I believe a sensible, sincere attitude in both city government and in meeting the concerns of the people, will help move our city in a positive direction."

BARRY BAUMANN (Council): "I have lived in Romulus the 27 years of my life, and I do not consider Romulus a 'Cuckoo's Nest'. We have good people living here, and I believe, if elected, I would serve all the citizens with the same dignity and respect they will have elected me.

"Public trust in elections is precious, and being a 'newcomer' to public office, I believe I would be able to function accordingly. I believe I can help rally a new spirit in Romulus with new and fresh ideas for our great city."

BROOKER EDWARDS (Council): "First of all, I'm not sure what the name 'Cuckoo's Nest' means. Unfortunately, it carries a negative connotation, which implies incompetence and mediocrity.

"The way to rid the city of this false image is to elect competent, experienced people to leadership positions; independent people who can communicate and work together for the benefit of all."

DAVID A. FERDON (Council): "A city official has an obligation to separate 'personal values' from fact, and make decisions based on the latter.

"Our image will improve when officials in office work with others, seek facts, examine options and make judgements without personal bias."

BILL OAKLEY (Mayor): "The label has hurt and offended many of our citizens and is neither a just nor characteristic description of our city.

"I believe the first step in repairing the damage done is to give citizens something to be proud about. As your mayor, I would constantly strive to set an example of proper conduct in public office and will expect all city employees to extend the same degree of compassion and responsiveness to all citizens."

(Because of the mail delivery holiday on Oct. 10, answers to last week's question by Mrs. Banks and Mr. Baumann missed press deadline and where not printed.

Since the delay was not their fault, we feel their answers should be printed this week).

The first week's question was: "How do you feel about Romulus having its own police force? Would you support the type of movement that took place in Canton Township where voters approved a police millage for that purpose?"

MARY ANN BANKS (Council): "I am in favor of a professionally-trained police force which provides the best protection for our community.

"Information must be given the public regarding the costs of our present services versus the cost of developing our own police department.

"After the facts are presented, the question could be placed on the ballot."

BARRY BAUMANN (Council): "At the present time, I am in favor of the Wayne County Sheriff. I feel the basic contract is the best avenue for police protection, however, I feel an increase in protection is warranted.

"Romulus has grown in the past few years, but the ratio of police protection to the citizens has remained the same. I would insist upon as well, a 'Romulus chief' to oversee the Romulus operation.

"This was done four years ago but cut out during the present administration. I feel a 'politics free' force as the sheriff is best for the people of Romulus."

This week's question for both the mayoral and 14 City Council candidates is: "Are you in favor of more senior citizen housing for Romulus?" Please limit answers to 50 words or less.

Orientation sessions aim at potential foster parents for status offenders

Belleville and Romulus area residents who think they might be interested in becoming foster parents for local youths are invited to an information meeting tomorrow and Oct. 26 at the Romulus Library, 11112 Wayne Road.

The Out-Wayne County Youth Services Coalition is searching for adults, single or married, who will participate in their program for teens.

The orientation and recruitment session begins at 1 p.m., until 3 p.m., both days.

Program trainers will acquaint residents with "what a foster parent is," and with the program for status offenders.

A status offender is a youth who is involved in "offenses" such as running away, truancy, and being "incorrigible" for one reason or another.

The purpose of the program is to place the youngsters in a foster home temporarily, usually from two weeks to 90 days, while counselors help the youth and his family work out differences, if possible. The goal is to get to the point where the young person does return home. If that cannot be worked out, the young person will be permanently placed in a foster home or other facility by the court.

The Out-Wayne County Coalition tries to place the youngsters, ages 12 to 17, in foster homes in their own area, so the teen will be near his school, church and home, in order to keep him or her in the community.

Since young people from the Romulus and Belleville area are served by the Out Wayne County program, foster homes in that area are needed.

Homes are licensed as foster homes by the agency.

Conducting the recruitment sessions will be Harold Chadwick and Patricia Merrill, both foster licensers, and Elizabeth Baxter, foster parent trainer.

Before young people are placed in a home, the volunteer parents are given training, and that regular training and support continues throughout the time they are foster parents.

All placements are voluntary on the part of the young person, natural parents and foster parents.

Further information can be obtained by calling 427-6670 or attending one of the two sessions at the Romulus Library.

Calling all skateboarders; City to hold competition

Following the heels of two successful skateboard contests, held in the spring and summer, a third fall contest for skateboard enthusiasts will be held Saturday, by the Romulus Parks and Recreation Department.

The event, expected to attract scores of local youngsters, will be staged on the horseshoe drive at Romulus City Hall, with the first contest slated for 10 a.m.

Rain or shine, contest officials will hold contests in downhill, obstacle and free-style competition. There will be no charge to entrants.

Registration times and approximate time of events are: age 5-8, 10 to 11 a.m. and 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; age 9-13, 12:30 to 1 p.m.

and 1 to 2:30 p.m.; 14 and up, 2:30 to 3 p.m. and 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Additional information may be obtained from Donna Zavitz at 941-0666, ext. 67.

Trophies will be given for first place finish only, while ribbons will be awarded for second, third and fourth places. Contest is only open to Romulus residents.

FCC seizes equipment

By JANICE PLESIEWICZ
Nightbird KNN 5032

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has confiscated more than $18,000 worth of illegal equipment alone during the past two months. Convictions and fines have resulted from this action.

Show cause notices were served to 27 CB operators for violating section 301 and 1.89 of the FCC rules and regulations. One of the operators being from Detroit. Ten licenses have been revoked, one operator being from Hazel Park, for violating section 1.89 — failure to identify each transmission with its call sign at the beginning and end. There were 58 notices of monetary liability issued for willful violation of various sections of Part 95.

An Indianapolis man had been sentenced to one year in prison for using obscene language over the CB radio and six months for illegal operation of the transmitter. His arrest resulted from investigations by the FCC agents from Indianapolis and Chicago. The reason for the probe was numerous complaints of interference and illegal use of CB, all made to the FCC by his neighbors and other CB users.

Form 452-C, transmitter identification card, has been done away with by the FCC. Up until now it was a requirement for all mobile station transmitters and certain fixed transmitters to post this tag. There seemed to be little enforcement value by the FCC. Even through the transmitter ID tag has been deleted, the rules regarding posting of your FCC license remains the same.

During January 1977 there were 980,253 CB applications received. FCC says more applications were received during the first five days than for the entire year of 1973.

Some of the reasons for such a rise in applications may be increase in channels, availability of newer sets, CB license fee discontinued or increased public awareness.

Since January 1977 the total of licensed CBers has climbed to 8,159,176. While talking to one of the manufacturers representatives I was told that the sale of CB radios had not even come close to the leveling off point.

Power limitations on the new 40-channel transmitters has not been changed. The power limit remains the same as for the 23-channel units. That means output power stays at 4 watts (carrier power) and 12 watts (peak envelope power for single sideband sets.)

Since Jan. 1, 1977 when the new 40-channel sets were introduced there seemed to be some public confusion over this matter. If you have any question in your mind about the power of your set it has been recommended that you contact one of your local manufacturers of radio equipment and review the specifications of your set.

Channel 9 is the emergency channel. It's probably the only channel that has been shown some respect and lately that seems to not be holding true. Channel 9 is monitored by several groups and organizations 24 hours a day.

Through experience Channel 9 has proven that it can be a very effective channel during emergency situations. The FCC would like to remind all CBers that the only way we can keep this channel a valuable public service is to limit our transmissions on Channel 9 to those involving the immediate safety of life or protection of property and motorist assistance.

If you need to carry out a conversation please take it to another channel and keep channel 9 clear.

Any questions, comments or events should be sent to Nightbird, c/o Associated Newspapers Inc., 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne, MI. 48184.

Specialist warns of fall fix-up's aches and pains

For many homeowners, fall is like a second spring, a time when planting and general fixing up of the home property goes ahead full steam.

A pulled muscle, or a painful fall, can stop landscaping and gardening activities quicker than a sudden rain, however, and may have serious consequences for the victim. From Joe Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University, come these tips for safe home landscaping:

—Use wheels whenever possible to move heavy loads. It's much easier to load bags of topsoil into a wheelbarrow and push them where you want them than to try to carry the bags yourself.

—Slide a heavy planter, tree, shrub or other object across a smooth surface on a piece of canvas or burlap, a child's "flying saucer" sled or even in a shovel blade. This is much easier than picking the item up and carrying it.

—On soft ground or up a slope, pull a load rather than push it. You can use your muscles much more effectively that way. And you're less likely to get hurt.

—Work on slopes only when the footing is dry. Wet grass and clay soil are slippery, so too, are leather soles on shoes.

—Use levers to lift large objects like rocks and logs.

—When you must lift, lift properly — with your legs, not your back.

—Wear protective clothing. Heavy slacks or trousers and skirts and gloves for your hands can prevent a lot of scrapes, scratches, blisters and wounds from thistles, thorns and slivers.

—Take a break once in a while. Don't overdo, especially if you're not usually very active.

—Use heavy planks to turn stairs into ramps when you have to move a heavy load up or down. Pull your load up the ramp, but let it go down ahead of you. Let your weight act like an anchor to slow the load's progress down the ramp. This approach is more efficient, and it keeps you out of the way in case the load gets out of control.

—Make sure any ladder you must climb will hold your weight and not slip or fall over with you.

—Keep hoes, rakes and other tools picked up so you don't step on or trip over them.

—Unplug all electric equipment when you're not using it.

—Put sharp tools safely out of the reach of curious children.

—Always look before you back up riding lawnmowers or garden tractors.

—Keep pesticides and other lawn and garden chemicals out of the reach of children, pets and irresponsible adults. Lock up the materials, if necessary.

At handicappers' conference

Rep. Ford discusses new legislation

Handicappers from throughout the State of Michigan gathered in the City of Wayne last week for a conference, sponsored by the Michigan Legislative Council for the Handicapped.

The gathering Oct. 14 included speeches by U.S. Sen. Donald Reigle and Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District).

The following speech was made by Congressman Ford during the evening session of the conference.

"I sincerely appreciate the opportunity to express my views to the Michigan Legislative Council Organization For the Handicapped on legislation Congress is considering or has adopted to help the handicapped.

"As one of the ranking members of the House Education and Labor Committee, I believe it is a privilege to play a role in shaping legislation which is aimed at improving the life situation of the handicapped. I'm proud to have made a contribution to several significant bills which have greatly altered the everyday lives of handicapped persons — in educational opportunity, job placement and overall physical accessibility.

"The 94th Congress produced one of the most important legislative products directed at reducing educational inequities for disabled persons. Indeed, the Education for All Handicapped Children Act, which I am referring to, undoubtedly is one of the most historic advances we have made nationally in meeting the challenge of educating America's handicapped children.

"In Michigan, we can feel especially proud that P.L. 94-142 did not have such a tremendous impact, as the state had previously enacted P.A. 198 of 1971, making it one of the leaders in the United States in special education legislation. Although the road to compliance in Michigan has not always been a smooth one, and most certainly is not yet complete, nonetheless our state is well ahead of its neighbors.

"But at the same time, there needed to be a national statement of commitment. Mandatory laws in Michigan and a few other states and increasing numbers of court opinions were not enough. A Federal law was definitely needed.

"There is no question that it costs far more to educate a handicapped child than it does a child without any disability and that only about 40 percent of the eight million handicapped children in this country are now receiving the special education they should be getting.

"Under the new Education for All Handicapped Children Act, funds started being channeled this month into states and local school districts to assist them in meeting the task of educating handicapped children. The funds are based on an incentive mechanism which links the amount of federal funds the local school district or state receives to the number of handicapped children the district or state actually serves.

"The law provides for a phase-in of the federal share of the cost of educating handicapped children, whereby the support escalates from the current 5 percent to a permanent figure of 40 percent effective in 1982. In 1978 the federal funds will be equally divided between the states and local school district. Then in following years 75 percent will go to local school districts and the remainder to the states for administrative costs, technical assistance and supportive services.

'...the Congress reaffirmed its support of programs for the handicapped...'

"To ensure that the intended recipients receive the benefit of the funds appropriated by Congress, the law requires that the federal dollars be spent only for the additional expenses attendant to the higher cost of educating handicapped children.

"There also is an incentive for states to provide programs for children between the ages of three and five. Grants of $300 are awarded for each child in this age group.

"Groups such as the Michigan Legislative Council Organization For the Handicapped can take a great deal of the credit for the passage of this legislation. It was opposed by President Ford, and it was only your lobbying efforts and the resulting commitment of Congress, as displayed in the 404-7 final passage vote, that convinced President Ford to take another look and sign the bill into law.

"More recently the Congress again reaffirmed its support of programs for the handicapped in extending the Education of the Handicapped Act by a vote of 376-2. Later signed into law as P.L. 95-49, this legislation provided $197 million in 1978 and more in following years for support services for educating the handicapped. These include curriculum development, teacher training, and research on teaching methods and classroom materials.

"Under a new approach, funding also is earmarked for demonstration projects for recreation and preschool education programs.

"Up for consideration within the next year is the re-authorization of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. H.R. 7905 has been introduced and soon will be scheduled for hearings by the House Subcommittee on Select Education. It is hoped that with this legislation, focusing on employment training for the handicapped, Congress will establish a permanent authorization, so that in the future there will be no need for groups such as yours to again prove their necessity for equal treatment.

"I am convinced — and the overwhelming votes in Congress in support of legislation for the handicapped verify my position — that Congress is committed to backing programs for the handicapped, not only with legislation but with dollars. While I am not yet satisfied with the federal monetary share, I believe we have placed strong legislation on the books so that now we can concentrate on increasing the level of federal funding.

"There is reason for optimism outside of Congress, too. In the Executive Branch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Joseph A. Califano Jr. has shown a sensitivity to the handicapped. The 504 Regulation he signed in April will go a long way toward changing the day-to-day operation of many facets of your lives, and as (Mr.) Califano said, will "open a new era of civil rights in America." The regulation covers a broad range of activity in thousands of schools, colleges, hospitals, day care centers, health clinics and other institutions receiving funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Faust, Dinnan gain honors

State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) and Leo T. Dinnan both were named recipients of annual awards at a recent meeting of the Michigan Library Association.

The presentation was made Sept. 30.

Faust was honored for his leadership and persuasiveness in obtaining passage of a law, which he introduced, providing benefits for public library cooperatives in Michigan. The new law resulted in substantially increased financial aid to the libraries.

Dinnan was selected for the "Librarian of the Year Award" for his outstanding contribution to library service in Michigan. Dinnan, who is Wayne County librarian and director of the Wayne-Oakland Federated Library System, was honored for his effort to gain support for additional library aid.

The Loleta D. Fyan Award, which honored a librarian with less than five years experience, went to Jill L. Locke, coordinator of Children's Services for the Farmington Community Library. She was honored for a number of programs including dramatics, art instruction, nature crafts, cooking and story hours which she initiated.

The Trustee Citation of Merit was awarded to Mrs. Gretta Burchfield, president of the Board of Trustees of the Charles A. Ransom Public Library in Plainwell. Mrs. Burchfield has served as a trustee of the Plainwell Library for 38 years and for the last 20 years has served as board president.

Walker-Sheldon PTA to host crafts fair

People interested in displaying their wares during the Walker-Sheldon School Crafts Fair and Christmas Bazaar have until Nov. 19 to sign up for table space.

The bazaar and fair will be held at the school, located at 39932 Michigan Avenue, Canton Township.

Pre-Christmas items, such as ornaments, jewelry, hand crafted goods, ceramics and knitted and crocheted things, will be featured.

Space for the bazaar and fair will be available up to the day — Nov. 19 — of the fair and can be obtained by calling the school at 721-9130 or 397-2829.

The event is being sponsored by the Walker-Sheldon School PTA.

An editorial opinion

How to get your story in the paper

How does one go about getting a news item published in the paper? A common question asked by hundreds of individuals and groups throughout the community.

Because the question has been asked so frequently in the past, and will probably be asked again in the future, Associated Newspapers is devoting this space to a detailed explanation of how to improve the chances that your story will make the pages of your newspaper.

A community group or civic organization should suggest that their group give one person the responsibility of dealing with the paper. That person should come into the office and discuss with the news editor, the paper's deadline for news items in your community, the type of photographs suitable for inclusion in the paper, and the identifying information for photographs.

In addition, the person delegated the responsibility for working with the paper should make an attempt to gain an understanding of procedures employed by the newspaper.

An individual who wishes to place an item in the paper should also contact the news editor for deadlines and the proper procedures for preparing news material and photos for submission.

In general, any item submitted to your paper will have a better chance of getting in if a few simple guidelines are followed.

Always type submitted material, if possible. It is time-consuming and costly for the newspaper to type material that is submitted in handwritten form. Further, some people write illegibly and it is almost impossible to read their information.

When typing information for the story, start the story in the middle of the first sheet of paper. By leaving the top half of the sheet blank, the editor has space to instruct the typesetters on how to set the story. The space at the top of the paper will also be used to instruct the composition department on what page the material will be printed.

Again, if material is typed, it should be triple spaced. This will allow the editor to correct spelling and grammatical errors. Single-spaced letters do not provide any space for those corrections.

If the material is submitted handwritten, it should also be triple-spaced on lined paper, and the material should be printed rather than written.

Handwritten stories that are submitted single spaced must always be typed by the editorial staff prior to printing. This additional effort will require more time by the paper, and consequently, the article may appear in the paper late.

Photographs which accompany any news item submitted to the paper should be black and white, no smaller than two inches square or larger than 8 by 10 inches. All photographs should have the name of the subjects printed on the back, and also the name of the person they are to be returned to.

Color photographs sometimes can be used, but may be rejected by the photo editor, if he believes they will not reproduce properly.

If a photograph is necessary to properly support the news item sent in, a call well in advance of the activity should be made to request that a photographer be assigned.

While it is impossible for the paper to assign a photographer to all the requested events, we will make every effort to cover events of a broad general interest.

These few simple guidelines will considerably improve the chances of a submitted story making it into the paper.

While we are dedicated to serving the community, it only stands to reason that articles properly prepared will be handled the fastest, and there are times when we will have no one available for handling those articles that may require special treatment.

Never request that your news item be taken over the phone. This practice leads to errors and if the article is worth printing, it is worth printing properly.

Clip this article from the paper and keep it handy for those times when you might wish to submit an article to the paper.

By following these guidelines, you will make our job easier and your article better.

We are standing by waiting to hear from you.

Working together, we can build a better community.

The Governor humbled me

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

The managing editor's job at any newspaper is not necessarily filled with pleasant experiences. In fact, many of those who have gone before me have suffered the consequences of their responsibility for years following their decision to "go straight".

The constant demands placed on the person given the responsibility for making the day by day, hour by hour, decisions necessary for the smooth operation of a newspaper, certainly are not conducive to a good night's sleep, but the job does have its moments.

I would like to tell you about one of them.

Two weeks ago I received a telephone call from State Rep. Robert Law of Livonia and Westland. Law called to tell me that my boss, Publisher David J. Willett had been selected to receive a tribute from the State of Michigan for his outstanding contribution to the field of journalism.

Law indicated that both he and State Rep. Tom Brown of Westland and Canton felt strongly that Associated Newspapers should be honored for its efforts to promote the cause of communications within the community.

To that end, they suggested that the State House of Representatives issue a resolution listing the accomplishments of Associated under the leadership of David Willett, and the legislators agreed.

Obviously, this tribute would be flattering at any time, but the award to Willett was to be made during National Newspaper Week, and the tribute was to be presented by Gov. Milliken himself.

Indeed, this was quite an honor.

When the day came for the presentation, Dave, Lothar Konietzko, ANP Chief photographer, and I drove to Lansing where we met Rep. Law in the State Capitol building.

Law escorted us into the governor's outer office, and quite frankly, I was humbled. In spite of the fact that the newspaper business had often placed me in the position of being critical of elected officials, it was quite something else to be standing outside of the governor's office, waiting for him to interrupt his busy schedule, to present Dave with this tribute.

Just minutes later, the smiling governor of Michigan was shaking hands with us and exchanging small talk. The photographers proceeded to direct everyone to the proper position for pictures of the presentation.

With cameras clicking, Gov. Milliken read a portion of the proclamation and handed it to Willett with a handshake.

More pictures followed, interspersed with small talk. The governor thanked Dave for the contribution he had made to the newspaper business and journalism, and expressed the thought that it was appropriate that the award should be presented during National Newspaper Week.

With the photographers now satisfied that the event had been properly recorded for history, we walked slowly out of the office with the governor.

No, this had not been the normal day's routine for a managing editor!

It is indeed a very special day when the highest elected official of the State of Michigan, in effect, tells you that the job that you have chosen to do is being done very well.

I'm sure that Dave was affected by the experience. I know that I was.

Health Beat

'Cleaning a hospital is not like cleaning a house'

The next time you drive past the Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, take a good look at the building.

It's 5-stories tall, contains 300 beds, an ICU-CCU, diagnostic facilities, and a 6-room operating suite.

The hospital area in addition to the central office of the PCHA, the laundry, and the maintenance garage, comprises approximately 270,000 square feet which must be cleaned 365 days a year.

When you consider that the average suburban home is perhaps 1200 square feet, you can begin to appreciate the enormity of the housekeeping effort required to maintain the buildings.

Housekeepers, sad to relate, never find themselves as the stars in a TV hospital series. Indeed, TV has never really taken the time to examine this critical function.

This column, incidentally, will serve as the final obituary to purge my system of my obvious distaste for TV programming.

At the Annapolis Hospital, the Executive Housekeeper told us that he has a staff of 70 people working 24 hours a day in a continuing battle to keep the hospital clean and as aseptic as possible.

"On a day such as today (it was raining outside), it is a never-ending chore to keep the entrances to the hospital and the halls and patient rooms clean and dry," he said.

"And in the winter when snow, slush, and salt are continually tracked inside, the magnitude of our responsibility doubles or triples."

He said it was something like painting the Golden Gate Bridge — you work your way through the entire hospital, take a short break, and then start all over again.

Cleaning a hospital is not exactly the same as cleaning a house, and the professionals who work in this service are well trained and highly skilled employees.

Several of the Community Colleges in the State are now offering college courses in institutional housekeeping — an event which is a reflection of the complexity of the task.

In the operating rooms, for instance, the housekeepers must clean and sterilize the rooms after each procedure before the next surgical cases can be started. This requires that the housekeepers have a knowledge of sterilization reagents and procedures, are able to work quickly, and can assure everyone that the rooms are safe.

Housekeepers are also trained periodically to take cultures from certain areas to determine the efficacy of their work and the chemicals being used. They are also expected to be able to evaluate new products, and smile when someone drops a cup of hot coffee on a freshly waxed floor.

These people are really an arm of public relations. They must often work around visitors, patients, and professional staff in an attempt to get their work done quickly and unobtrusively.

What does it cost each year to maintain this service? What is it worth to maintain sterility, cleanliness, and neatness?

Roy Patton, the Executive Housekeeper at Annapolis Hospital said that his budget for fiscal year 1978, which began July 1 this year, was approximately 1.2-million dollars. That staggering figure includes wages and fringe benefits, equipment and materials, and some 300-thousand dollars for linen processing.

Now let's take an objective look at the housekeeping service. Dedicated personnel, hard working, specially trained and proud of their contribution to the over-all operation of the hospital.

But, alas, totally ignored by the flim-flam artists of Madison Avenue, who, if the truth were known, have an awful lot to say about the program content pushed down the collective throats of the viewing public.

My anger with TV is simply this: it's not honest, and generally makes no effort to be honest. The lack of honesty — which can be either an act of omission or commission — leaves false impressions in the minds of those unfortunate addicted to the totally unrealistic world (all nice, neat, and packaged) touted by bra makers, deodorant peddlers, bathroom tissue ignoramuses, and dunces who seem to get their kicks watching a commode flush!

The real world is a lot better. Perhaps some day the TV moguls will wake up and exploit the potential of the magnificent medium which is theirs.

More on dirty tricks

By BOB AMEEN

Election time anywhere in the United States brings with it more shenanigans than a three-ring circus. Or, so it seems.

This year, four communities in the area served by Associated Newspapers — Romulus, Wayne, Westland and Belleville — are having elections at the local level.

Conspicuous among those campaigns is the one in Romulus, which at this fateful time in the lives of local politicians there, takes on the trappings of the center ring in a Barnum and Bailey Circus spectacular.

Some of the "dirty tricks" exhibited in Romulus this and past years would make even Watergate pale by comparison. Scandal sheets, called "newspapers" by those who put them out, but more appropriately labeled "rags" by members of the journalistic profession, crop up each election year as surely as the sun over the eastern horizon.

Contained in these facsimiles of newspapers are such outrageous promises, "pie in the sky" projects and character assassinations, that if subjected to a polygraph test, the poor machine would blush in embarrassment! From a perusal of charges, accusations and "facts" contained in these amateur imitations of a real newspaper publication, the reader is hard-pressed to deduce whether those persons responsible are behind bars or in a straitjacket.

It would seem, that the residents of communities like Romulus would be so tired of being subjected to such drivel in election after election, that they would conspire to elect the village idiot in a write-in campaign!

But, such is human nature, that many of those behind such childish, immature and irresponsible tactics actually get elected to such offices as council, township board and mayor.

Oftentimes, the actions of the voters are as hard to figure out as the con artists and baloney spielers running for election. How else does a candidate, who does nothing more than knock his opponents, get enough votes to gain an office whose duties entail distribution of millions of taxpayer dollars?

It would appear that after years of such goings on, voters would get smart enough to band together, run their own selected candidate and work in a concerted effort to get him or her elected. Should they, however, disdain to follow such constructive action, then their complaints a year later, after being exposed and battered by the irresponsible candidate they elected, would sound like the boy who cried "Wolf."

Voters, who go to the polls to cast their ballots for a candidate solely on the strength of his accusations and lies about his opponents, deserve what they get in the way of returns when his incompetence affects their way of life in their chosen community of residence.

In the case of Romulus, where actions of those in office and those seeking office, such apathy has earned them the unenviable distinction of having their home community referred to as the "cuckoo's nest."

An obvious solution to rid themselves of this appellation is to get rid of the cuckoos!

ANP Publisher honored by Governor Milliken

Text of tribute to David J. Willett

To write well is to think well, to feel well, and to appear well; it is to possess at once intellect, soul, and taste.

—George De Buffon

LET IT BE KNOWN, That it is a rare privilege to extend the highest praise to Publisher Dave Willett and the Associated Newspapers, in tribute to the fine and guiding role they maintain as an outstanding source of information serving the area of Wayne, Michigan.

The innumerable achievements in public information performed by Mr. Willett on behalf of his fellow citizens are indeed eloquent testaments to his commitment to humanity. Were it not for Mr. Willett and his publications, a vital voice of the community would be stilled and area needs would be forgotten.

Among the most notable achievements of the Associated Newspapers, the hometown paper of The Honorable Robert C. Law, is their excellent coverage of local issues and current stories.

Of particular worth to the people of this area are the important newspaper columns written by local and State officials which appear from time to time in the pages of these journals. Most certainly, the noble task these columns perform is that of keeping the newspapers' many readers abreast of developments concerning what could have a great bearing on their lives.

It goes without saying that Mr. Willett is truly a journalist of vision in allowing such significant and timely messages to appear within the pages of his eminent newspapers. He is a man who knows that an informed public is a good public. Indeed, Mr. Willett should be wholeheartedly commended for his effectiveness as a journalist in meeting the needs of the public and in maintaining the right of the people to know what is going on in their city and State.

IN SPECIAL TRIBUTE, Therefore, This document is signed and sealed in honor of Publisher Dave Willett and the Associated Newspapers, for the fine role they are playing in informing the public.

Signed:

Signed:
William G. Milliken
Governor
State of Michigan

Robert C. Law, State Representative
36 th District

Thomas H. Brown, State Rep.
37th District

David J. Willett, publisher of the Associated Newspapers (ANP), was honored last week by Gov. William G. Milliken and the State of Michigan for his outstanding contribution to local journalism. Willett, owner of Associated Newspapers, re-acquired the chain of six newspapers in November of 1976. Following Willett's acquisition of the papers that his father had founded, he began an aggressive expansion program aimed at improving local news coverage, and bringing the ANP papers back into the communities that they had served. In recognition of the outstanding job that Willett has done toward reaching his goal, he was presented with a special resolution from the State of Michigan. This special tribute was presented to Willett (right) by Governor Milliken and State Rep. Robert Law (R-Livonia).

How about sending your material to us?

Dear Editor:

How about sending all your material on any Romulus citizen or city employee, to a Romulus committee to see if we approve of it. If your paper is so unbiased, why haven't you written a re-tract on the hatched job you've done on our city Treasurer, a very honest man by the way, as Mr. Riegler never called city hall and you have a letter from Mr. Riegler on your desk, to that affect.

Or is it that Mrs. Gallien belongs to the same church as Mr. Bradley, your news reporter.

As for Bill Oakley being so honest and never engaging in smear sheets, he doesn't need to be as your paper! Your Mr. Oakley sounds like Mr. Stewart always yelling fowl play, by the way did Mr. Stewart ever pay his taxes? Or does Mr.

Oakley carry a gun too?

This situation is stupid so you honestly believe you can take over the political publication in this city. By the way no one ever accused Mr. Oakley of not paying his bills, it just that he didn't have a workable water meter for ten years, (gear out you see), I bet Mr. Nixon would have loved Romulus, Water Dept. didn't Mr. Oakley vote to hike our water rates 120 percent. How about that voters! Deny that Mr. Oakley. No one has smeared Mr. Oakley, just told the truth. As President Truman said, If you can't stand the heat get out of the kitchen. Oh by the way Mr. Fassett do you live in Romulus? About that candidate for political office that came into your office could that be Mr. Oakley? Have you ever sat in on a Romulus, council meeting for the past four years? And watched Mr.

Oakley? Did you hear Mr. Oakley tell a retired city employee No you can't have Blue Cross and Blue Shield you should of thought of that when you were young I did. And was sick to my stomach. I hope he never finds himself in this man's position. Look out Senior Citizens!

As for Romulus being a cuckoo nest I sincerely hope you quit using that phrase its your paper thats keeping it alive. Maybe Mr. Stewart will wake up and know who used him. I have a hundred dollar bet that you won't publish this, because I'm a democrat and damn proud. Oh ya won't someone water Mr. Oakley's horses!

Sincerely,
Mad Ma!

Editor's note:

We are naturally disappointed that you have misunderstood our intentions on that subject, but we have long ago realized that we can't please everyone all the time.

Relative to your comments concerning our story on Sen. Riegler's call to Treasurer Lewkowicz.

While it is true that we do have a letter from the senator denying that he made the reported telephone call, it is common knowledge that Lewkowicz thought that it was Riegler on the phone directing him to pay Mike Herman, and that someone at Riegler's office actually did the calling, and identified himself as Riegler.

That information changes nothing. Whether or not Riegler called, the fact remains that Lewkowicz would not resolve the situation until he was subjected to outside pressures.

The title of 'cuckoo's nest' was not applied to the city of Romulus by the Roman. It is the continuing antics of Romulus candidates, dedicated to politics rather than the city, that has earned the community that dubious title.

Mad Ma, it is in your hands to help remove the stigma attached to your city. It seems a shame that you are apparently prouder of being a Democrat than you are of using your own name.

But remember, the next bet you will probably win. We have a policy against printing unsigned letters.

You are right Mad Ma, normally we would not have printed your unsigned letter since we have a policy against that, but in your case we will make an exception.

Your letter is a very good example of the thing we had hoped to eliminate in this year's election in Romulus.

By offering candidates an opportunity to file their campaign literature with us, we would then be in the position to verify responsibility for that literature, not content, only responsibility.

It requires little courage to print hate mail or false charges while hiding behind the veil of secrecy, and it was for that reason, that a candidate for office in Westland, suggested that we get involved.

Reader urges an end to millage games

Mr. Editor:

It is past time for the parents and school board members of Romulus to cease playing their games.

Both parties seem to be trying to show their strength and power and the only people being injured in this game are the children in the community. Once again the kids are the pawns in an adult game of power.

The facts of the matter are simple. The people are going to have to pay for their school now or later. No matter how much yelling or screaming or demanding is done. Eventually they will pay.

Now, would mean restoration of programs extremely vital to the present students attending the schools.

Later, will mean these students will never have the same opportunities that most of you "concerned", parents all experienced while you were in school.

While you have been playing your games lets look at what has happened: Physical Education, Art & Music has been cut at the Elementary Levels, High School & Junior High Programs have been cut by over a Million educational minutes, athletics and extra-curricular activities have been totally omitted from schools. Think, how many of you can honestly say that it was your English class that kept you in school, and then consider if school became interesting only after academics were evenly mixed with "fun" activities like dances, sport games etc.

Everybody is looking for an excuse to vote no on school millages and if they can't find one then they make up one. How about this time looking for an excuse to vote yes.

Look at your child or the child down the road, who isn't getting the same chance that you had because you're to "proud" to give him that chance.

To the P.U.B.E.'s I ask this question. You say you are concerned about education in Romulus. Why then are you trying to destroy that same program you are concerned about? Wouldn't your name be more appropriate if it were the N.U.R.D.'s. Neighbors United for Romulus Destruction?

The the Board I would like to ask this question. Why are you so concerned with the loud mouths instead of being concerned with those whom you ran for office to serve, the children.

The people ARE going to pay. You know that and I know that. Why then don't you reinstate all programs, total busing and others so that the kids are given their chance. Are you, like so many of our parents, also too proud to admit that you have made a mistake. All that can happen is that you will have to borrow money from the state to run the school system. Fine, then the next millage election, instead of 8.5 mills, ask for 10 mills to cover that deficiency caused by the "concerned" no voters.

To the people of Romulus I ask only this. If you are going to vote NO on the millage on November 8 please do so for a good sound reason if there is one. Please for the children's sake don't vote NO because of some drummed up excuse. Remember you get to vote, but it is not you who suffers the effects of that vote. Only the kids suffer and you hold their future in your vote. Use it wisely.

Vote YES on November 8.
A Truly Concerned Citizen

7-Semesters required

To the Editor:

In response to your article in the October 12, issue on the committee that went to Lansing to discuss our school situation, I would like to inform you of an error in data.

The article states that Kristi Stevens, a senior at Romulus High, is valedictorian. This is untrue. A valedictorian must have a total of seven semesters completed to be qualified for this title. Kristi presently has six semesters finished. Therefore, she has not yet acquired the title of valedictorian.

Though it is true that she is currently on top of the class in grade point average, she is not the only person with a 4.0 in the senior class of Romulus High. Thus, we feel that it is unfair to the others with a 4.0 for Kristi to get full credit.

We are not disclosing any other names of those who are currently tied with Kristi because nothing is official and our counselor, Miss Nancy Shirley, has told us that she will not announce who is to be valedictorian until after this semester has ended next January, and we are not sure that we know all students presently holding a 4.0 average.

Thank you for this opportunity to give justice to all.

Democratic Party. Are those who indulge in untruths, half-truths, innuendoes and sick humor aimed at another candidate's religion worthy of public trust? The responsibilities of government demand responsible people.

Romulus will be a cleaner city when we take politics out of the gutter. It will move forward when we have the "essentials" in government. Then, we can "Take Pride in Romulus".

A sad reflection on the Democratic party

Romulus Roman

Somewhere along the line we have lost sight of two essentials people once considered vital in electing public officials — honesty and integrity.

Neither are apparent in the campaign gibberish of the Romulus Democrat and Cannon. The inane content of these publications is not only an insult to the intelligence of the electors of the community, but a sad reflection upon the

Child proofing a farce

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

When my daughter became a mother she would come to see me, but she wouldn't say hello until she had gone to the kitchen and cleaned out all the cupboards — putting everything on top of the refrigerator.

"Your house isn't child-proofed," she would say, and then she would kiss her little kid and tell him to be happy with Grandma, and off she would go, happy and secure in the knowledge that she had child-proofed her mother's house.

After closing the door behind her, I would go out to the kitchen and rescue her little kid from the top of the refrigerator.

Nature didn't intend houses that have kids in them to be child-proofed. If it had, all kinds of chaos would develop, because everyone knows that mothers and fathers and grandmothers and grandfathers can't open anything.

It was my kid who showed me how to open doors without doorknobs, and it was that same kid who showed me how to get into a locked car with has the keys inside.

The other evening a couple of my little grandchildren got sick at my house, and... they were tucked into bed where they were to remain for almost a week.

The doctor sent out aspirin and antibiotics and cough syrup and a fever thermometer. I stood by their bed shoving in the thermometer, pouring cough syrup down their throats, and feeding them aspirin. And then it was time to give them the antibiotic. I took the bottle from the locked medicine cabinet and carried it into their room.

For fifteen minutes I tried to lift the lid off that bottle.

"What's the matter with this lid?" I muttered.

"It's child-proofed," my granddaughter said.

"It's also grandmother-proofed," I muttered again and then went out to find my But even with bifocals I couldn't get that lid off.

"Mike can get it off," my granddaughter said.

"How can Mike get it off if I can't? I scoffed. "He's only four years old."

"Yeah, grandma, I can too get it off," Mike said as he leaped out of his bed, letting the draft go up his pajama legs, bounded over his sister's bed, and jumped up on the dresser where he was on the level with me. Grabbing the bottle, his tiny fingers gave it a flip ... and there it was ... open.

And that's how I know that nature didn't intend houses that have kids in them to be child-proofed. Or nature would have made kids without fingers.

Senator Riegler responds

Dear Mr. Fassett:

This is in reference to your article of October 5 by Jim Bradley regarding my purported direct, personal involvement in obtaining Mr. Michael Herman's salary checks.

While there are many occasions on which I am afforded an opportunity to involve myself directly on behalf of a constituent experiencing problems with a Federal agency — Mr. Herman's case was not one of them.

To be more specific, I did not place a phone call to anyone in regards to the Herman case. Further, it has been my policy not to involve my office into problems whose solutions rest at levels of government other than the Federal level.

Yours truly,
Donald W. Riegler, Jr.
United States Senator

Ed. note

Dear Senator Riegler:

I have received your letter of October 11, regarding our October 5 article by Jim Bradley, relative to your purported involvement in the Mike Herman affair in Romulus.

While we certainly accept your statement that you did not make that telephone call to Romulus, we would expect you to also accept our reporter's statements to the effect that someone did call Romulus, and identified himself as Senator Riegler. And that call did come shortly following Mr. Herman's contact with your Allen Park office, and was followed by another call asking if the situation had been resolved.

It is obvious to us that someone at your Allen Park office took it upon himself to make that call to Romulus and to identify himself as Senator Riegler.

During our attempts to verify with your office the purported telephone conversation, we were placed on hold while one of your people was kind enough to contact all of your local offices for us. That person was unable to locate anyone that would admit to making the call to Romulus. When we contacted your Washington office, your secretary was out of the office but we were told she would call us back. She didn't.

Senator Riegler, the implication of your letter is that if you didn't call Romulus, no one did. We suggest that the conduct of your employees is your responsibility. Since we verified that a call was made to Romulus from your office, and in fact the City Treasurer himself thought that he had talked to Senator Riegler, someone at your Allen Park office was responsible for that call.

Our responsibility is to report the news. The fact that the Treasurer of the City of Romulus would not take action until he was subjected to outside pressure and he thought that that outside pressure was from Senator Riegler, is news.

We stand by our story, with the exception that it was not Senator Riegler that called Romulus, it was Senator Riegler's office that called.

Citizens to speak on new juvenile code

The first public hearing aimed at getting the "citizen's viewpoint" on proposed changes in the State juvenile justice code will be held Monday, under the sponsorship of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. The all-day hearing will be broken into three sessions for the convenience of parents, teachers, local officials and interested citizens who want to testify. The first session will start at 10 a.m., the second at 1:30 p.m. and the third at 7 p.m. in the 13th Floor Auditorium of the City-County Building at 2 Woodward Avenue in downtown Detroit. This is the first of at least four public hearings that will be held in convenient locations in Wayne County to give citizens an opportunity to speak out on the proposed changes in laws governing children under age 18, particularly those dealing with status offenders — truants, runaways, curfew violators, etc).

Four Wayne County women commissioners are responsible for the public-oriented meetings which, they said, are "necessary because of the great impact these changes would have on the family, the schools and the juvenile courts."

The commissioners are Jarrette Simmons, vice-chairman of the board, Jackie L. Currie, and Maxine Young, all Democrats from Detroit; and Mary E. Dumas, Republican from Livonia.

Juvenile Court Judge Gladys Barsamian, Detroit Councilwoman Maryann Mahaffey and Alice Hines, an investigator in the Juvenile Defender's Office, will be featured panelists at some sessions.

"Since the Michigan Juvenile Justice Services Commission first proposed 126 complex changes in the juvenile code, there has been no public opportunity for the average citizen to speak his or her mind on the proposed changes," Mrs. Dumas said.

"The state held public hearings, but those were oriented toward law enforcement people and state agencies," she explained. "We're putting bulletins in the schools, libraries, city halls and other public places to urge parents especially to attend these public hearings. We want them to be aware of what is going on so that they have an opportunity to speak up for their rights."

Mrs. Currie pointed out that the hearings would give special attention to the status offense issue.

"Too many parents don't even know what a status offense is," Mrs. Currie said. "If status offenses are removed from the juvenile code, then the courts will no longer have an authority over runaways and kids who refuse to go to school."

"The state never has given parents a proper forum to respond to that proposal. They held a few quick hearings about two weeks after the new juvenile plan hit the newspapers. That isn't enough time to study the proposals — much less give an opinion on them."

The commissioners will also explain the role of Wayne County government in the juvenile justice system.

Mrs. Young said Wayne County was moving to meet federal grant requirements that call for 75 percent of all status offenders to be removed from secure detention into alternate types of placement by 1978.

"It is the intent of Wayne County to provide alternate environments for youth who are not criminals — but who do need help," Mrs. Young said. "Some status offenders will be diverted to private agencies for counseling and other aid; others will be placed in foster homes, shelters or returned to their families."

The commissioners said they have sent written invitations to hundreds of public agencies and officials in Wayne County, including mayors, councils, township supervisors, school superintendents and board of education members "because they didn't have enough time to respond to the plan either."

The second public hearing will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 7 at the 5th Precinct Building, 11411 E. Jefferson, near St. Jean in Detroit. The third and fourth hearings will be held on Nov. 16 and Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Schoolcraft College Liberal Arts Auditorium, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Mrs. Dumas said a hearing in the Downriver area is being considered. All hearings will be conducted jointly by the board's Human Resources Committee, chaired by Mrs. Currie, and the General Government Committee, chaired by Commissioner Clemens E. Bykowski of Detroit.

Leather painting

Wayne County Commissioner Edgar Harris of Taylor admires the "leather painting" done by Cathy Pirlot, a 12th grade student from Flat Rock who belongs to two county-sponsored 4-H groups — the Bold Cheyennes (countywide) and the Busy Bees of Belleville. Cathy participated in a 4-H exhibit at the City County Building

Bill aims to stop Seafarer

Senator Majority Leader William Faust (D-13th District) has introduced legislation aimed at keeping Project Seafarer out of the State of Michigan.

Faust's proposal is embodied in a 5-bill package that would prohibit the state's consent for transferring land to the federal government for the purpose of constructing a communications grid like Seafarer.

"There are several statutes in the Michigan lawbooks that provide for the transfer of state land to the federal government for various reasons," Faust said. "My bills would amend these laws so that no land or buildings could be acquired by the federal government for the purpose of constructing a communications grid for U.S. Navy vessels."

Similar legislation was passed earlier in the year that withdrew the state's land cession rights for the purpose of constructing nuclear waste dumping facilities.

"I believe that the people of Michigan, particularly those in the Upper Peninsula, have expressed overwhelming opposition to the construction of Project Seafarer in Michigan," Faust said. "Enactment of my legislation will give a clear message to the federal government that Seafarer is not welcome in Michigan."

"Michigan Attorney General

Frank Kelley has stated that passage of this kind of legislation would give Michigan the legal right to keep Seafarer out of the state. At the very least, it will give the Attorney General the legal ammunition to fight Seafarer in the courts, if that becomes necessary."

VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP WATER DEPARTMENT

Attention Van Buren Residents

Due to increases of materials and labor, water tap fees have been increased at a Township Board Meeting held on September 27, 1977, with the following stipulations:

1. Present homeowners without water taps: An opportunity until December 27, 1977, for present residents with existing homes to apply at the previous rates. At time of application the homeowner will be required to pay 25 percent and the balance to be paid within nine (9) months from date of application. At that time, a certificate of fees paid will be issued to the homeowner. When the homeowner desires to hook up, certificate presented to the water department will be honored. If the total fee is not paid within this period, all monies paid to that date will be returned to the homeowner and future applications by that homeowner will be based on the new fee schedule.

2. New owners, developers, and new construction after the above Township Board action of September 27, 1977, are subject to the following schedule.

WATER TAP: This increase takes effect September 28, 1977, subject to the above conditions:

Size of Service	Size of Meter	Tap Charge
3/4"	3/4"	$560.00
1"	3/4"	615.00
1"	1"	655.00
1 1/2"	1 1/2"	$1,300.00

Homecoming queen Terry Templeton (top photo at left) radiated the joy of stunned amazement as she was announced as the queen and was crowned by last year's queen, Cindy Hudge. Queen Terry's court was comprised of Gina Michels, Kelli Kemp, Kim LaMothe and Lori Butler. Dancing with the Homecoming queen, drum major Kevin Patke drew an exclamation of excitement from Terry as she awaited his first step. A large crowd viewed the halftime crowning and the football game between Livonia Bentley and the Belleville High Tigers. The Tigers couldn't keep in step either as they dropped a 22-6 decision to their visitors. Because of the increasing difficulty in getting floats, Belleville High School went with displays this year. The seniors came away with the blue ribbon first place prize, just ahead of the sophomores. The Junior Class display was a train, but it must not have been on the right 'track' as the 11th grade exhibit finished third. — Photos by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

by M. Phyllis Crabtree

With the discovery of gold in 1848, San Francisco became the major port of entry for miners arriving from the East and from Europe. Land was needed for homes, businesses, and other activities to support the burgeoning population. Competition for the town lots intensified. In a sale in 1853, four lots brought $1.2 million. As the supply of town lots diminished, the town began to sell water lots, many of which were in the bay, under several feet of water. In 1853, however, the land bubble burst, and speculators were unable to find buyers for their lots.

The Rotating Pulpit

Lord, teach us to pray

The disciples of Jesus Christ said to him, "Lord, teach us how to pray." They didn't ask him to teach them how to preach," they said, "Lord, teach us how to pray."

They wanted to be shown how to intercede effectively and fruitfully. The occasion for their request was the example of the Savior himself, Luke 11:1 tells us that when Jesus had finished speaking to his heavenly Father, one of his disciples said unto him, "Lord, teach us to pray." There was something about Christ when he prayed that impressed his followers, awakening in them a sense of their own inadequacy and a keen desire to be like Jesus in this special ministry of intercession. (How well do you pray?)

If we are called upon to teach a class in Sunday School, we make preparation, or when we address some other church group, we make preparation. We speak in a meeting of any kind, we make preparation. We study for it, we practice our speech. Why don't we make preparation to speak to God? We feel we do not need any preparation in our seminaries. We have courses in homiletics and practice preaching. But we do not have a "chair" for the teaching of effective prayer.

(How well do you pray?)

If your pastor stood in the pulpit Sunday after Sunday and repeated the same phrases, and preached the same sermons over and over, he would soon lose his congregation. Examine your life in the inner "closet", then make your earnest request along with the disciples, and say, "Lord, teach us how to pray."

In Matthew 6:9-18 Jesus said to his disciples, "After this manner therefore pray."

Our Father, who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name. Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, in earth, as it is in Heaven. Give us this day, our daily bread, and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors, and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

By REV. MYLES JOHNSON
Pastor
Mt. Olive Baptist Church
Romulus

Alms is equivalent to a righteous act. The expression refers to religious externalities. Although others may observe these acts, this fact must not be the motive behind the deed.

Verses 9-13 contain what is familiarly known as the Lord's Prayer. It is his prayer in that he is its author. It was intended to be a model prayer for his disciples: When he said, "When ye pray, pray after this manner." (How well do you pray?)

In Matthew 6:12 the problem raised by the conditions and nature of this petition for forgiveness may be explained as follows: In the fully developed doctrine of Christian salvation, there are two areas of divine forgiveness. The first area is that of the forgiveness that came to the sinner at the time of justification, and deals with the guilt of his sins in a total sense. Eph. 1:1 To this forgiveness there is attached but one condition, to receive it once for all by faith in Christ Jesus. Rom. 4:5-8. The second area of forgiveness covers the relation of the divine Father to those who have become his children and deals specifically with the matter of fellowship whenever it is broken by sin. How well do you pray?

RC offers Halloween safety tips

With Halloween just round the corner, the Red Cross is asking parents to protect their children from accident and injuries this year by observing a few safety tips:

The Red Cross suggests:

- Make sure your child is easily distinguishable in the dusk or darkness by choosing a costume made of light-colored material. Apply reflective tape to it for added visibility.
- Make certain that your child's costume is flame retardant, including wigs, false beards and mustaches, hats and veils.
- Be sure that your child's costume fits properly — over-sized shoes, bulky capes, dangling sleeves and long skirts or trousers can cause an excited child to stumble.
- Do not give your child dangerous accessory items such as swords, knives, broomsticks, and metal or wood "fairy wands". Cardboard substitutes are just as fun and much less dangerous.
- Do not permit your child to wear a mask which may obstruct his vision. Paint his face instead.

- Plan your child's trick-or-treat route with safety in mind.
- Review pedestrian safety rules with your child before he leaves the house.
- Keep your porch, yard and hall lights on. Clear your yard of obstacles such as sprinklers, hoses, trash cans, lawn furniture and bicycles.
- Do not allow your children to bicycle from house to house.
- Do not allow your child to carry a lit candle or lantern. Provide him with a flashlight.

Wellhead tax end could mean saving

American consumers can benefit by more than $120 billion through 1990, if federal controls are removed from the wellhead price of new natural gas, according to a leading economist.

Dr. Edward W. Erickson, professor of economics and business at the North Carolina State University, said actual savings of $123.3 billion would be derived essentially from the difference between the cost of increased supplies available under deregulation of new natural gas and the cost of alternate fuels needed to replace lost supplies, which would occur under the Carter Administration's plan for continued price controls.

"The great weakness in the Administration's cost-impact assumptions and other studies which seemingly support them is that they all fail to calculate the replacement-cost factor," Erickson said. "Yet this is an extremely critical factor to the economy and the consumer, especially when you consider that the Administration's bill discounts the country's potential bank of natural gas reserves."

Erickson based his replacement-cost estimate on the "Benefit-Cost Estimation Model," a computer analysis of data supplied from virtually every available academic, industrial and governmental source.

Erickson estimated the deregulated cost of additional domestic reserves at $147.7 billion during the period from 1978 through 1990. He placed the Btu-equivalency cost of alternate fuels needed to replace lower supplies, occurring under a plan of continued price controls, at $271 billion, or a net difference of $123.3 billion in savings to the U.S. economy.

The amount of additional reserves which would be available, if new natural gas were decontrolled, the economist said, would total about 49.5 trillion cubic feet (Tcf) over the next 12 years.

"If this supply is unavailable and has to be replaced completely with imported crude oil, additional payments to OPEC would total $132 billion for the period, or more than $10 billion a year in lost revenues," Erickson's analysis was reinforced by the preliminary results of a separate study prepared by Foster Associates and released by the Legal Subcommittee of the Natural Gas Supply Committee.

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP ORDINANCE NO. 17-K

AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING RATES, CHARGES AND RULES FOR THE USE AND SERVICE OF THE WATER SUPPLY SYSTEM OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SUMPTER, COUNTY OF WAYNE.

THE TOWNSHIP OF SUMPTER ORDAINS:

Section 1. There shall be and there is hereby established monthly rates and charges for the use of and for the services supplied by the Township's Water Supply System based upon the meter readings of the amount of water consumed, as follows:

Water Rates
A. Consumption Rate:
First 10,000 gallons or fraction thereof at	$16.50 per quarter.
All usage in excess of 10,000 gallons at	$ .80 per thousand gallons or fraction thereof per quarter.
B. Hydrant Rental:
	$10.00 per hydrant per year.
C. Quarterly Meter Charge:
Meter Size	Charge
3/4" and 1"	$ 2.50
1 1/2"	5.00
2"	7.50
2 1/2"	12.00
3"	20.00
4"	30.00
6"	50.00
8"	75.00
D. Connection Charge:
Size of Service	Size of Meter	Charge
3/4"	3/4"	$ 560.00
1"	1"	615.00
1 1/2"	1 1/2"	655.00
2"	2" and over	1,300.00

E. Debt Service Charge:
All premises serviced by the System shall be charged a debt service charge of $7.50 per quarter per equivalent user.

F. Minimum Rate:
The minimum rate for each equivalent user shall be $16.50 per quarter, the debt service charge and meter charges, if any.

Special Rates
For miscellaneous services for which a special rate shall be established such rates shall be fixed by the Township Board.

Turn on Charges
There will be imposed a charge of $10.00 whenever the Township is requested to turn on or off water services: Provided, however, whenever the Township is requested to provide turn on or off service at times other than the regular business hours of the Township there will be imposed an additional charge of time and material plus 10 percent.

Section 2. Bills for the rates and charges as herein established by the Township shall be sent quarterly. All bills shall be payable on the 15th day of the month following the receipt of the bill, and shall be paid at the office of the Clerk of the Township of Sumpter. If any charge for the services of the System shall not be paid by the 15th day of the month in which it shall become due and payable, a delayed payment charge of ten per cent (10 per cent) of the amount of the bill shall be added thereto and collected therewith. If any bills for the service of the System shall remain unpaid after 60 days following the rendition of the bill therefore, the water supply for the lot, parcel of land, or premise affected shall be cut off and shall not be turned on again except on payment in full of the delinquent charges therefor, in addition to the payment of a charge of $10.00.

Section 3. It is hereby made the duty of the Township Clerk to render bills for service and all other charges in connection therewith and to collect all moneys due therefrom.

Section 4. In addition to the rates set forth above it is recognized that the Township is obligated pursuant to contracts entered into with the County of Wayne by the Township and County of Wayne pursuant to Act 342 of the Public Acts of Michigan of 1939, as amended to pay over to said County the proceeds of ad valorem taxes levied for the purposes of meeting certain contractual debt service payments only. Such sums which represent the proceeds of such debt service ad valorem taxes as may from time to time be collected shall promptly be deposited in a special hereby established depository account and designated ACT 342 CONTRACT PAYMENT FUND, which fund is to be utilized solely and only for the purposes of meeting said contractual debt service payments to the County of Wayne.

Section 5. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed insofar as the conflicting portions thereof are concerned.

Section 6. This Ordinance shall be published in full in the Belleville Enterprise, a newspaper of general circulation in the Township, promptly after its adoption, and shall be recorded in the Ordinance Book of the Township and such recording authenticated by the Signatures of the Supervisor and Township Clerk.

Section 7. This Ordinance is hereby determined by the Township Board to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the peace, health and safety of the Township and is therefore declared to have immediate effect.

PASSED and adopted by the Township of Sumpter, Michigan, on this 11th day of October, 1977.

Studded snow tire era comes to an end

Michigan's studded snow tire era should click to an end this winter, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Snow tires with metal studs have been illegal in Michigan since April

Sunday nature walk set

"Come Fall With Us," an autumn nature walk, will be held at the Nature Center Area of Stoney Creek Metropark near Rochester-Utica at 9 a.m. on Sunday.

Park naturalists will take park visitors into the "hustle and bustle" of the autumn season. The walk will emphasize such activities as color change, seed production, hibernation and migration of bird life.

The 2-hour free program is for families and individuals, however, advance registration is required.

For registration or information contact the Nature Center at Stoney Creek Metropark at 781-4621 (Washington exchange).

1975. Only vehicles equipped with radial-ply tires using studs known commercially as Perma-T Grippers are permitted on state roads now.

The firm that produced Perma-T Grippers discontinued them in 1976, and an Auto Club check could find no other manufacturer. Auto Club was told by the only known Michigan distributors that when the existing stud supply is exhausted, no more will be available.

A spot check of tire dealers in the Detroit area finds the existing supply of legal studs very limited.

Michigan motorists whose vehicles already are equipped with the approval tires and studs may use them on Michigan roads north of a line from Mason to Arenac counties from Oct. 1 to May 1. Below that line, they are permitted from Nov. 15 to April 1.

Michigan motorists traveling state roads with illegal studs or with legal studs outside the set time periods are subject to a fine of up to $100 and/or a jail sentence of up to 90 days, Auto Club warns.

It is the practice of Michigan State Police to extend to out-of-state motorists traveling Michigan roads the same privileges for studded tires permitted in their home states, Auto Club notes.

Studs are illegal at any time in Wisconsin and in Ontario. Six other states in which studs are totally banned are Hawaii, Illinois, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi and Texas. (Minnesota permits out-of-state motorists with studded tires to drive on its roads for 30 days).

Auto Club notes that this year, 30 states allow studs, with varying time restrictions. The District of Columbia permits studded tire use from Oct. 15 to April 15. Twelve other states have no restrictions.

Florida law, which does not specifically prohibit studs, makes it illegal to drive with tires that will damage hard surfaced roads other than through ordinary wear and tear.

States beside Michigan allowing studs, with time restrictions, are:

Alaska, Sept. 15-May 1; Arizona, Oct. 1-May 1; Arkansas, Nov. 1-April 30; California, Oct. 1-May 1; Connecticut, Oct. 15-April 30; Delaware, Oct. 15-April 15; Idaho, Oct. 1-April 15; Indiana, Oct. 1-April 30; Iowa, Nov. 1-April 1; Kansas, Nov. 1-April 15; Maine, Oct. 1-May 1; Maryland, Oct. 15-April 15; Massachusetts, Nov. 1-April 30; Missouri, Nov. 1-

April 1; Montana, Oct. 1-May 31; Nebraska, Oct. 1-April 15 (cars only); Nevada, Sept. 1-April 30; New Jersey, Nov. 15-April 1; New York, Oct. 16-April 30 (cars only); North Dakota, Oct. 15-April 15; Ohio, Nov. 1-April 15; Oklahoma, Nov. 1-April 1; Oregon, Nov. 1-April 30; Pennsylvania, Nov. 1-April 30; Rhode Island, Oct. 31-April 1; Utah, Oct. 15-March 31; Virginia, Oct. 15-April 15; Washington, Nov. 1-March 31, and West Virginia, Nov. 1-April 1.

States with no restrictions on studded tires are: Alabama, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont and Wyoming.

The Canadian provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, plus the Northwest and Yukon territories, have no studded tire restrictions. British Columbia and Manitoba allow studs from Oct. 1 to April 30; New Brunswick, Oct. 15-April 15; Nova Scotia, Oct. 15-April 15; Newfoundland, Nov. 1-April 30, and Prince Edward Island, Oct. 1-May 31.

The province of Quebec allows studded tires on vehicles weighing under 5,000 pounds from Oct. 15 to May 1. They are banned on vehicles weighing more than 5,000 pounds, including buses and trucks.

Plawecki bill would keep unsafe tires off roadways

Legislation to keep unsafe tires off Michigan Highways has been given final approval by the State Legislature, according to the bill's sponsor, Sen. David Plawecki (D-12th District).

Plawecki said the measure defines "unsafe" tires and establishes minimum tire tread depths.

"Enactment of this legislation should help cut down on traffic accidents caused by tire blowouts," said the Western Wayne County Democrat. "Although police officers currently have the authority to ticket motorists for driving on unsafe tires, they have no guidelines for determining when a tire is hazardous."

The Plawecki legislation bans the sale, or use, of automobile tires with less than 1-16th of an inch of tread. The minimum tread allowed for trucks would be 1-8th of an inch in front and 1-16th of an inch in the rear.

The bill also bans tires with cord or tread separation, exposed belts, cords, or plys and tires and tires that are worn nearly bald.

"The minimum tread level for trucks specified in my bill is identical to the tire safety standards recently established by the Governor for doublebottom tankers," said Plawecki. "I am confident that the Governor will quickly sign up bill into law so that we will have a precise standard for safe tires on both automobiles and trucks."

Under the terms of the Plawecki bill, a motorist ticketed for unsafe tires would not have to pay a fine, if adequate tires were installed on the vehicle before the court date specified on the ticket.

"The purpose of this bill is to reduce traffic accidents by getting unsafe tires off of Michigan roads," Plawecki said. "By allowing a motorist to replace the unsafe tire instead of paying a fine we will be getting to the root of the problem."

Village to conduct cooking adventures

During the brisk November weekends, visitors to Greenfield Village in Dearborn can warm up to a new series of special kitchen-cooking adventures.

They can visit four historic houses and watch period meals being prepared, each authentic down to the aroma of herbs and spices mingling in the crisp late autumn air. Each November Friday, Saturday and Sunday the houses and the Village Bakery will be alive with the bustle and aroma of food preparation as it was practiced by our ancestors.

In the 1650's Susquehanna House, a Maryland plantation home, visitors can watch an authentic meal of stuffing and roast turkey being prepared in an open hearth. The turkey will be roasted in a tin reflector oven, a common colonial device for roasting game. The stuffing — called forecemeat — will be made from an authentic early recipe.

Near Susquehanna House, at a smaller, simpler Massachusetts home, the 1640's Plypton House, a similar meal will be prepared using food common in the northern colonies. Several small fires in the fireplace allow small game birds to be roasted on a spit while stewed pumpkins and Indian pudding are prepared at the same time. The tricks to openhearth cooking will be explained and demonstrated in both homes.

The tantalizing smell of baking pies will be the first thing that greets visitors to the Ford Birthplace home in Greenfield Village. Using Farmer's Friend No. 9, a sturdy wood-burning stove, a Village craftsman will bake apple and pumpkin pies, creating puff paste crusts and luscious fillings using old-time recipes.

Appropriately, visitors to the Heinz House, early home and first factory of Henry J. Heinz, a giant in the food preservation industry, have an opportunity to watch piccalilli, a vegetable relish, being made. Using a basic recipe, the piccalilli will combine green tomatoes, picked in the fall and stored for use, with sweet red peppers, onions, cabbage and a number of spices to create the tangy condiment.

The November Kitchen Weekends in Greenfield Village are open to visitors to the village at no additional charge beyond the regular admission fees.

Author influences 'Belle of Amherst'

Actress Julie Harris, a Grosse Pointe Park native, believes Emily Dickinson had a lot to do with the recent television and stage play about her life, "The Belle of Amherst." Miss Harris stars in this 1-person dramatic autobiography which encores on Channel 56 at 8 p.m. Nov. 1.

Emily certainly supplied the words; "The Belle of Amherst" is based on her poems, notes and letters—the bulk of which were discovered by her sister, Lavinia, after Emily's death in 1886.

Artistic Advisor Charles Nelson Reilly shares Miss Harris' belief that Emily influenced the production. He tells one fascinating story:

"We needed a name for Emily's English teacher, and we were in a hurry. I said 'How about Crowell?' and Bill Luce, the playwright off the top of his head said 'How about Uriah Crowell?' So we put it in, and weeks later, the president of Amherst College told us his researchers had finally learned the name of Emily's English teacher, and it was Uriah Crowell. Now that's the truth, and that kind of thing happened all the time."

Regardless of the source of inspiration, Miss Harris' performance is a monumental tour-de-force. The New York Times describes it as "generous, spiny, proud, bemusedly defiant, subtly yielding evocation" of America's first great woman poet.

The decision to undergo elective surgery is an important one: get a second opinion first.

The Program for Consultation on Elective Surgery is Being Offered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan.

The Program is Available to Chrysler, Ford and General Motors Employees, Retirees, Surviving Spouses and Eligible Dependents.

For a Consultation Appointment or More Information, Call the Referral and Information Center at 225-0700.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan announces a new pilot program that offers, at no cost to the patient, a second-opinion consultation for Auto members who have received a recommendation for hospital bed-patient non-emergency elective surgery. The consultations will be paid for under the Auto companies' negotiated Medical Insurance Programs.

You may participate in the Program if you have Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan Hospital-Surgical-Medical and Drug Coverage without Medicare Part B and you are:

- ☐ An active employee of Chrysler Corporation, Ford Motor Company or General Motors Corporation who works in the Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Tri-county area.
- ☐ A Chrysler Corporation, Ford Motor Company or General Motors retiree, surviving spouse or sponsored dependent who lives in the Tri-county area.
- ☐ An eligible dependent of an active employee, retiree or surviving spouse.

If you wish to obtain a second-opinion consultation concerning non-emergency elective surgery, call the Referral and Information Center at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan for an appointment. The names of Program Consultants located near your home or job will be provided. These consultants will be specialists in the type of surgery recommended to you. From these names, you may choose the consultant you wish to see for a second-opinion consultation.

For and about seniors

Homeowner vs. apartment dweller

By MAUREEN BEATTY

Most seniors must eventually make a major decision on housing. Should they remain in their home or move to an apartment?

It is not an easy decision to make and should not be made over night.

Husband and wife may not have the same feelings. The security and roots established over the years might mean little to one person while meaning everything to another. Serious discussion, long before moving, or not, becomes a reality, could make the final outcome less painful.

Is she an avid gardener? Does his hobby require a basement or garage? If we exchange the time consuming job of keeping up house and yard, will we fill our hours with other pastimes, or find our days unfilled and boring?

Has mowing or shoveling become a burden? Is our neighborhood safe? Has there been break-ins, vandalism or harassment? Although our home is paid for can we afford the rising cost of utilities, taxes and repairs?

Do we read the papers regularly to be aware of any con-men preying on older people in our neighborhood? Have we more rooms than we can make use of but would we feel cramped in a small apartment?

Do we have a neighbor who will check on us on a regular basis?

Does our health dictate a change?

The final decision must be a very personal one. My next door neighbors, although experiencing some difficulties, would never be happy without their own home and yard, but my aunt and uncle, who sold their home after 40 years to move to an apartment complex, are very content. My uncle, a avid golfer, can be seen every morning — weather permitting—making the rounds on the adjoining golf course, the only thought interfering with his concentration being perhaps: "Why did we wait so long?"

While waiting for my husband to have x rays taken at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor I noticed a sign on the door of the psychology clinic. It read: "Out to lunch".

Bill would end senior tax hardship

Legislation to ensure that low-income senior citizens, disabled persons and veterans are not penalized by the state's complicated method of tax relief has been introduced by State Sen. Patrick H. McCollough of Western Wayne County.

"The legislature already has recognized a need to give senior citizens and others with incomes under $10,000 the ability to defer summer property taxes until Feb. 15," said McCollough, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. "It was hoped that these persons could file for and receive their property tax credit by that date in time to pay their property tax bill without any penalty.

"But it is painfully obvious that thousands of low-income persons are not receiving their property tax refund check by Feb. 15 and are unable to pay their deferred summer tax bill.

McCollough noted: "As a result some cities are slapping these elderly and handicapped persons with late payment fees for the entire deferral period of six months or more. This penalty is unfair and must be ended."

McCollough's bill would prevent cities from imposing penalties on deferred taxes for the period of deferral, if the taxes are not paid by Feb. 15.

This proposal is a companion to legislation approved by the Senate Finance Committee. The bill, sponsored by Sen. James DeSana of Wyandotte, and co-sponsored by Sen. McCollough, would allow local units of government to cancel additional late payment fees for low income senior citizens who pay their property tax bill between Feb. 15 and April 30.

"Frankly, the persons to whom this law applies need every available dollar to pay their taxes," McCollough said. "By protecting them from undue penalties, we can lessen their property tax burden and enable them to receive their property tax relief in the manner which we intended."

Show looks at 'Heaven'

"Let's Watch Heavenly Bodies," a special evening program on stars, will be presented at the Nature Center of Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester-Utica at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 28.

Here is an opportunity to spend an autumn evening becoming acquainted with our neighbors in the sky. Park Naturalist Bill Thomas will discuss many of the star legends and mysteries, and he will offer hints in identifying the heavenly bodies.

Participants should dress for the weather, provide a cushion, pad or blanket on which to sit and have binoculars.

For registration information contact the Nature Center at Stony Creek Metropark at 781-4621 (Washington exchange).

Boat tours lake

This fall the Island Queen Excursion Boat makes hourly tours of Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark near Milford weekends only. Hours are 12 noon to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays in October (weather permitting). Charges are adults, $1 and senior citizens and children, 50 cents.

Persons may board the replica of an old Mississippi-style riverboat at the Boat Rental Dock. Charters also are available.

For information contact Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford).

DAVID O. LAIDLAW

David O. Laidlaw, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropark system, serving the Detroit Metropolitan Area - the counties of Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston and Washtenaw - has received two honors from America's most distinguished park and recreation organization. He has been named president for 1977-78 of the National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA), with more than 17,000 members in the United States and Canada. He was presented "The 1977 Distinguished Fellow" Award from the American Park and Recreation Society - for long, faithful, honorable service and outstanding achievement in the park and recreation field. Laidlaw has been director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, (which has 10 Metroparks, since Jan. 1, 1969 and started at Kensington Metropark in 1947.

County to honor volunteer social service workers

To honor persons working "devotedly" in social service causes without pay, as many as 250 certificates of appreciation may be presented by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners during the fourth annual "The County Cares" Luncheon Oct. 26.

The presentations and lunch will begin at 12 noon at the Hotel St. Regis, 3071 W. Grand Blvd. in the New Center area of Detroit.

Including the recipients, county commissioners, and representatives of various agencies and organizations served by the volunteer program, about 300 persons are expected to attend.

Other than self satisfaction, the luncheon is the only reward received by these volunteers who donate thousands of hours of their skill and energy each year, said Commissioner Jackie L. Currie.

Mrs. Currie is chairman of the luncheon committee, formed by the County Volunteer Program Department created by the board to recruit and coordinate the placement of volunteers with agencies in need.

State Legislature handles problem of 'double bottom' tanker trucks

The State Legislature went directly into a heavy work schedule when it started the fall session, with the House dealing quickly with such issues as tanker trucks, mail order sales, job openings, fork-extended motorcycles and the white-tailed deer, according to Romulus Democrat Edward Mahalak of the 38th District.

The state representative said the tanker bill was listed as a priority item for the legislature's fall session because of public concern over a series of accidents, fires, deaths and injuries, involving "double bottom" tankers carrying flammable substances.

The House bill tightens the safety regulations for tankers and requires certification by the state fire marshal of every firm and every vehicle engaged in the transport of hazardous materials - flammable liquids and gases, explosives and poisonous substances.

A firm could not be established or a vehicle operated without such certification, which could not be issued until it was shown that there was full compliance with the fire safety rules, Mahalak explained.

Each certified vehicle would have to have an identification number, indicating the type of hazardous material being hauled, he added.

He went on to say that firms located, or operating, in Michigan could not establish above-ground storage for liquefied gas larger than 2,000 gallons individual capacity, or 4,000 total capacity, or and above-ground storage for flammable liquid larger than 10,000 gallons without a certificate from the fire marshal.

The bill, which has been sent to the Senate for deliberation, calls for annual inspections of vehicles and storage facilities. The fire marshal would have the authority to order a firm to stop operations, or prohibit the use of a tanker until the firm or vehicle was brought into compliance with safety regulations.

The bill also makes a number of other changes in the Fire Prevention Act, Mahalak said. It would expand the requirement that schools conduct fire drills once a month to include all colleges and universities and require places of public assembly be inspected at least once a year.

The inspection would be carried out by the fire marshal or by a certified local fire inspector. A place of public assembly could not be operated without obtaining a certificate, indicating its maximum capacity and that it is in compliance with fire safety regulations.

"Hopefully, these requirements will help to prevent the type of fire that caused so many deaths earlier this year at the Beverly Hills Night Club near Cincinnati," Mahalak said.

Approved and sent to the Senate was a bill which would require employers to report to the Michigan Employment Security Commission all jobs not filled within five days. This would not include firms with 10 or less employees and employers of seasonal farm labor, or to jobs normally filled by promotion or recall, jobs covered by employer-union hiring arrangements, or casual or temporary employment, Mahalak said.

The requirement would facilitate job referrals and placements by the MESCC, thus helping to find jobs for the unemployed in the state, and would enable the commission to more accurately determine the conditions of the labor market.

Another bill sent to the Senate would ban motorcycles with drastically modified front-end suspensions or steering systems, such as motorcycles with slug or screw-in type fork extensions, those with front fork legs that are not parallel with the fork system, and vehicles with forks greater than 45 inches in length.

"Safety experts agree that these type of modifications reduce the effectiveness of suspension and steering gear to the point where motorcycles are dangerous to the drivers and to other vehicles on the road," he added.

"The bill would not affect motorcycles operated on private property or non-public roads.

Michigan does not have an official state animal, although there are those who have considered the wolverine the unofficial state animal. This is despite the fact that the wolverine is not and may not ever have been a native of Michigan.

The House has voted to make the white-tailed deer the official animal of the State of Michigan. The proposal is under Senate consideration.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS MINUTES

MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, REGULAR MEETING, SEPTEMBER 12, 1977

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, September 12, 1977 at 8:00 p.m.

Members present: Doris Roe, Charles Paas, Robert Cook, James Sayre, Ronald Tocco, and Richard Muse. William McCollum arrived at 8:55 p.m. Also present were Superintendent Dale Kaulitz, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Instruction Douglas Brown, and School Attorney John MacDonald.

President Roe called the meeting to order at 8:05 p.m.

The minutes of the regular meeting of August 8, 1977 and special meeting of August 22, 1977 were reviewed and approved as printed.

John MacDonald gave an update on the expulsion of high school student Peter Winnie. Initial recommendation was for permanent expulsion. Resolution was presented for approval for expulsion of student until the second semester of the 1977-78 school year. Motion by Richard Muse, supported by Robert Cook, to adopt resolution as presented. Ayes: Paas, Cook, Tocco, Sayre, Muse, and Roe. Absent: McCollum. Nays: None. Motion carried. (copy attached)

On recommendation of the Business Office, motion by James Sayre, supported by Robert Cook, that:

Judy Wagle be hired as a full-time secretary at West Willow Elementary School effective August 24, 1977;

Luella Thompson be hired as a half-time secretary at the Vocational Center effective September 12, 1977;

Gloria Similo, secretary at the Vocational Center, be granted request for termination effective July 18, 1977;

Sandra Brown be hired as a 3 hour food service worker at Quirk Elementary School effective September 7, 1977;

Kathleen Eichner be hired as a 3 hour food service worker at the High School effective September 7, 1977;

Mildred Hammond be hired as a 3 hour food service worker at Haggerty Elementary School effective September 7, 1977;

Christine Morin be hired as a 3 hour food service worker at the High School effective September 7, 1977;

Darlene Wilkinson be hired as a 3 hour food service worker at the High School effective September 7, 1977;

Connie Amrhein be hired as a full-time custodian at Haggerty Elementary School effective September 13, 1977;

Charles Brown be hired as a full-time custodian at the High School effective September 13, 1977;

Brian Cullin be hired as a full-time custodian at Edgemont Elementary School effective September 13, 1977;

Ken Adams be hired as a full-time custodian at South Junior High School;

Arnold McCurdy be hired as a full-time custodian at Rawsonville Elementary School;

Robert Dutton be hired as a full-time custodian at Tyler Elementary School effective September 13, 1977; and Laurel Parish be hired as a full-time custodian at Tyler Elementary School. Motion carried.

Motion by Charles Paas, supported by Richard Muse, that the financial reports be approved as presented. Motion carried.

The bills for the month of August were reviewed. Motion by James Sayre, supported by Richard Muse, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried.

Jack Hosmer presented a proposed tax levy resolution for the 1977-78 school year. Motion by Robert Cook, supported by Charles Paas, to approve resolution to set the tax levy at 30.47 mills for the 1977-78 school year (27.65 for operation and 2.82 for debt). Ayes: Paas, Cook, Tocco, Sayre, Muse, and Roe. Absent: McCollum. Nays: None. Motion carried.

Bill Nagy, Vocational Education Director, requested use of one portable classroom located at Edgemont Elementary School for the building trades program. The 18 lots recently purchased are across the road from the portable and use of this classroom would save on bus transportation, delivery charges, etc. Being so close to the building sites, the students would have more time to spend working on the houses. Light materials would also be stored in unit. Utilities would be paid by Vocational Education Program. It was suggested that the purchase price of the portable unit be included in sale price of homes. Matter was referred to Charles Paas, Chairman of the Vocational Education Committee for study and recommendation.

The following committees were appointed: Administrative - Richard Muse Chairman, Elementary Education - Richard Muse Chairman, Secondary Education and Athletics - James Sayre Chairman, Special Education, William McCollum Chairman, Vocational Education - Charles Paas Chairman, Art and Music - Ronald Tocco Chairman, Maintenance - Robert Cook Chairman, and Food Service - Ronald Tocco Chairman.

On recommendation of the Personnel Office, motion by James Sayre, supported by Robert Cook, that:

Susan Demmon, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 29, 1977;

Barbara Diedrich, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 23, 1977;

Peggy Grignon, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 26, 1977;

Christine Hosman, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 18, 1977;

Ann O'Beay, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 19, 1977;

Sandra Robinson, pink slipped teacher, be granted request for termination effective August 29, 1977;

Arlinda Valite, pink slipped teacher, be terminated effective September 12, 1977;

Jacquetta Wireman, teacher on maternity leave, be granted request for termination effective August 18, 1977;

Archie Bice be hired as a teacher for Elwell Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977;

Dorothy Florian be hired as a teacher for Rawsonville Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977;

Elsie Goode be hired as a teacher for Edgemont & West Willow Elementary Schools beginning August 31, 1977;

Laura Hagler be hired as a teacher for Tyler Elementary School, first semester only, beginning August 31, 1977;

Mary Anne Hudge be hired as a teacher for Savage Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977;

Margaret Mayol be hired as a teacher for West Willow Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977;

Carol Schank be hired as a teacher for Tyler Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977;

Debra Spino be hired as a teacher for West Willow Elementary School, first semester only, beginning August 31, 1977;

Lawrence Warren be hired as a teacher for South Jr. High School, first semester only, beginning August 31, 1977;

Mary Winter be hired as a teacher for North Jr. High School, first semester only, beginning August 31, 1977;

Rosemarie Coppins be returned from pink slip status as a teacher for West Willow Elementary School beginning August 31, 1977; and Marjory Priest be returned from pink slip status as a teacher for Rawsonville & West Willow Elementary Schools beginning August 31, 1977. Motion carried.

Richard Muse reported on his committee's recommendation regarding Special Education Drivers' hourly rate which is as follows: $3.50 starting rate; $3.75 after 90 calendar days of work; and $4.00 after 180 calendar days of work. Motion by Richard Muse, supported by James Sayre, to approve recommendation for increase in Special Education Drivers' hourly rate as presented. Motion carried.

Jack Hosmer recommended that each special education driver carry a standard insurance coverage of $250,000. liability per person and $500,000. per occurrence. Motion by Charles Paas, supported by James Sayre, to approve standard insurance coverage as presented. Motion carried.

Harry Hidenfelter requested permission to have coaches who are being paid by outside agencies sign a paper that they agreed to be paid in this manner and school district not involved. Matter referred to James Sayre, Chairman of the Secondary Education Committee, for study and recommendation.

Harry Hidenfelter has been elected to the Michigan High School Athletic Association of Regional Directors which would require four meetings each year - two in Lansing, one in Grand Rapids, and one in Detroit. Before he accepts, he asked permission to be away from work for these four days at no cost to the district. Motion by James Sayre, supported by Robert Cook, to approve request. Motion carried.

Harry Hidenfelter reported on the Attorney General's opinion regarding relationship between the Michigan High School Athletic Association and Michigan Public Schools which states that school districts could not delegate their supervisory and enforcement functions over interscholastic athletics to a private body. Every school district in the State of Michigan is required to adopt its own rules and regulations for interscholastic athletic competition and each school district is individually responsible for its own enforcement of those rules and regulations. Membership in the M.H.S.A.A. and local enforcement of the regulations are necessary for participation in M.H.S.A.A. meets and tournaments. He presented a resolution as such for approval. Motion by Robert Cook, supported by James Sayre, to adopt resolution as presented. Ayes: Paas, Cook, Tocco, Sayre, Muse, and Roe. McCollum abstained. Nays: None. Motion carried. (copy attached)

Dale Kaulitz discussed Senate Bill 714 regarding unemployment benefits for nonprofessional school employees during summer months and vacation times. If the bill is passed without the Senate Labor Committee amendments denying eligibility to nonprofessional school employees, it will cost Van Buren approximately $200,000. in unemployment compensation benefits. Motion by William McCollum, supported by James Sayre, that we make known to the lawmakers our desire that Senate Bill 714 not be passed without the Senate Labor Committee amendments. Motion carried.

Dale Kaulitz reported on the three requests for use of Sumpter Elementary School which are: 1) to be purchased by Sumpter Township, 2) for use by W.C.I.S.D. for the Head Start Program, and 3) possible use for the Southwestern Guidance Clinic. The committee for the Guidance Clinic is looking at one other possible site for the clinic and will let us know their decision.

Pastor Schindler from the Denton Baptist Temple requested use of Denton Elementary School for Sunday School program. Matter referred to Charles Paas' committee for study and recommendation.

Charles Paas requested approval for temporary use of the portable unit at Edgemont Elementary School for the building trades program until committee can meet to make final decision. Permission granted.

President Roe notified the Board that there will be future study sessions on the following: 1) objectives for this year, 2) review of school policies, 3) proficiency testing for seniors and 9th graders, and 4) requested that the administrative committee meet soon.

Meeting adjourned at 10:08 p.m.

WE HONOR OR

Award to fund health care improvement

The award to The University of Michigan School of Public Health of a major portion of a $1 million federal program to improve health care in the nation's prisons has been announced.

The department of medical care organization of the U-M School will administer a $400,000 project as part of the grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Two U-M faculty members will direct the total program which will make Michigan a national center for education and technical assistance aimed at establishing a model correctional health care system which can be duplicated in any state.

Ten states will be included in the 18-month pilot program.

Dr. Jay K. Harness, director of the Office of Health Care of the Michigan Department of Corrections and U-M faculty physician in surgery, is director of the federal grant program along with co-director Marilyn R. Lindenauer, research associate in the U-M department of medical care organization.

Mrs. Lindenauer described the grant as a "massive commitment" to rapidly establish acceptable health care standards for inmates and a cost-effective system to deliver the care.

Mrs. Lindenauer said the motivation for the grant program and the willingness of states to participate in it lie to recent court decisions which have established adequate health care as a right of inmates. States must now provide this, and most prison systems are ill prepared for the new obligation.

Although still revamping its prison health care program, Mrs. Lindenauer said Michigan has gotten a head start under its recently established Office of Health Care headed by a physician (Dr. Harness). It has its own budget, line authority over all correctional health care staff, and reports directly to the head of the prison system. She noted that this setup allows a realistic assessment of total prison health care costs and gives its director the necessary authority and responsibility for inmate health care.

School of Public Health faculty experienced in medical care organization will be involved in the U-M portion of the grant program including generation of data now lacking on prison epidemiology (distribution of illness among convicts) and application of lessons learned in Michigan and elsewhere through on-campus classes and field work. There also will be a national conference to report on findings. Three groups will be invited to participate — state prison health care administrators, physicians, nurses and others who provide the care and top state officials who set prison policy.

"Because Michigan has begun to see its problems and to define and address them we are much farther along than most other states," Mrs. Lindenauer said. "We hope to use this experience as a lab for other states to examine their own needs and problems. We want to avoid having 50 states go on crash programs to 'reinvent the wheel' individually when the same solution could be accomplished in one national model program."

She added that each state probably is the best authority on its own problems, but may not know how to prioritize them or what specific actions to take.

Want your own garden? Now is the time to start

If enjoying the surplus of other people's gardens has whetted your appetite for a garden of your own, now is a good time to choose and clear your site. Fall tilling will give you a head start on the work next spring.

But don't be in such a hurry to get started that you fail to consider the placement of the garden in your home landscape scheme.

Joe Cox, extension specialist in landscape architecture at Michigan State University, points out that a southern exposure is usually best for a vegetable garden. But placing it there may put it in conflict with other landscape features.

"People often are advised to plant deciduous trees on the south side of their homes for shade in summer and sun in winter," he said. "A vegetable garden needs full sun most of the day, however. Nearby trees and shrubs also compete with vegetable crops for moisture and nutrients."

Other requirements for vegetables include good drainage. A low, marshy spot that won't grow other plants won't be good for vegetables, either.

"On a small city lot where choice of locations is limited, a good site for a conventional rectangular vegetable garden may be hard to find," Cox observed. "One way around this is to allow a little flexibility in your idea of what a vegetable garden should be. For many reasons, neatly laid out straight rows are very convenient. But that's not the only way to grow vegetables."

Many vegetable crops can be worked into flower beds, borders, window boxes and other annual landscape features. Perennial crops, such as asparagus and rhubarb, can be included in a perennial bed. Low-growing fruit trees could be used to make a living screen, to frame a view or to add a splash of flower and fruit color in spring and fall. For a more formal, cultivated effect, they could be espaliered (pruned to conform to restricted space or a flat surface) on a wall or fence.

And the winners are--

Wearing grins to match the brightness of their football trophies, this group of young men attended the Belleville Kiwanis Club's Oct. 11 dinner meeting as honored guests. They were winners of the club's recent Pass, Punt and Kick Contest which is sponsored by Atchinson Ford Sales of Belleville. Holding their "Oscars" are Patrick Murray

They won the door prizes

Part of the fun at the Belleville Kiwanis Club's Pass, Punt and Kick dinner Oct. 11 was the awarding of two door prizes — two footballs. The pigskins were won by John Smolen of Belleville (right) and Eric Ball of Ypsilanti at his side. Making the presentation were John Touse, chairman of the annual contest, and Kurt Atchinson of Atchinson Ford Sales which sponsors the competition.

Educational workshops set for parents and teachers

Parents and teachers of young children are invited to register for a group of educational workshops to be held Nov. 12 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Davidson Junior High School in Southgate.

The event is being presented by the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council, Inc. Co-chairwomen are Mrs. Lois Crawford of Flat Rock and Mrs. Linda Charboneau of Dearborn, both of whom serve on the Council's executive board.

The workshops are planned to help parents and teachers in their relationships with young children. Topics being offered are: Effective discipline; Teach Your Child to Talk and Listen; Fathers and Mothers: On Becoming a Good Parent; Creative Activities (craft participation workshop); Communication Techniques within the Family; Child Molestering; Raising a Child Alone; Literature for Young Children; Sexual Development of Young Children; Assertiveness Training and the Goals of Children's Misbehaviors.

Attendance is not limited to council members and any non-member parent or teacher interested in further information or registration is invited to call Mrs. Charboneau at 562-7753. The registration fee is $3 for non-member individuals and covers attendance at two 90-minute workshops and refreshments. The council also makes children's and parents' books available for sale.

Two birthday girls in October spotlight

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Carol Frost chalked up birthday number 11 on Oct. 6 at a party planned by her mother, Mrs. Waine Frost of Hollywood Street, Romulus.

Festivities were held at McDonald's Restaurant in Romulus with Carol's cousin, Cindy Connolly of Westland, joining her school friends, Cheryl Abbley, Natalia Zabic, Diane Fyfe, Jackie Mitchell, Pam Casto and Karen Lewis, for the occasion.

The highlight of the day for the birthday girl was the special gift she received from her brother, Kenneth, who is in the U.S. Army and stationed at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

She blew out five candles

There were five clown candles topping the circus birthday cake which Jennifer Watt's grandmother, Mrs. John Horne, had made especially for the Oct. 2 celebration. Coming from Wyandotte with her husband, Mrs. Horne helped serve the turkey dinner which Jennifer's mother, Mrs. Jay Watt, had prepared for the 22 guests.

Arriving for the two o'clock dinner were the honoree's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Horne of Trenton; her uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Horne of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Robbie McGovern and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Price, all of Riverview, and Diane Horne and her friend, Roy Rutgers, both of Wyandotte.

Young cousins sharing Jennifer's cake and ice cream tarts were Cindy and Carrie Horne, Sallyann McGovern, Patti, Terri and Mandy Price and her brother, Danny.

Shower honors mother-to-be

A stork shower for Pamela Johnson Sears was held Sunday, Oct. 2, at the Masonic Temple in Belleville. Some 40 guests arrived from Ann Arbor, Canton, Jackson, Lincoln Park, New Boston, Ypsilanti, Romulus and Belleville for the afternoon party.

Hostesses were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Mildred Johnson; her mother-in-law, Mrs. Betty Sears; her sister, Mrs. Jennifer Lowhorn; and her aunt, Mrs. Sue Greer.

Audrey Johnson, the future mother's aunt, was the recipient of the door prize. Table appointments in yellow and white included cut glass vases holding carnations, also in the shower colors. The special shower cake was made by Mrs. Helen Towler.

Hunters return with full quotas

There are several freezers around the Belleville area that are showing the results of a recent hunting trip to Wyoming where the deer and the antelope play (at hide and seek, that is.)

Herb Mida, his sons, Bob, Bill and Lynn, and son-in-law, Roger Fry, made their way westward in their camper along with Frank Reinhackal and Frank Day and spent 10 days stalking their targets on the Coffey Ranch near Lusk. All filled their quotas — Frank bagging the trophy mule deer, a 10-pointer, and Herb downing a trophy antelope.

The group, who enjoyed pleasantly mild days and cold nights, also hunted jack rabbits during their stay. Roger Fry was this year's novice, being "broken in" by the others — all veteran western hunters.

She was a finalist

A Belleville woman was one of six finalists in the "Fastest Check-out Contest" sponsored by the Detroit Free Press last week. The winner was to have been announced Sunday, Oct. 16.

Maxine Smolinski, who lives with her husband, John, and five children, 4 to 19-years of age, at 10116 Van Buren, Belleville, was named one of the top checkers.

An employee of Ted's IGA Market in Romulus, Mrs. Smolinski was timed by newspaper personnel as she checked out some $43 worth of groceries; her time being 58 seconds.

Top prize was to be an overnight stay and dinner at Dearborn's Hyatt Regency.

EMU coach is speaker

The newly-elected Kiwanis Club president, Bill Chizmar, (right) had the pleasure of introducing the guest speaker for the annual Pass, Punt and Kick dinner which honored the young football competitors. Lloyd

Carr (left), assistant football coach at Eastern Michigan University and a former coach at Belleville High School, was on hand to congratulate the young winners and to fill them in on "making it in college football."

Here's how to get your news printed

How does one go about getting a news item published in the paper? A common question asked by hundreds of individuals and groups throughout the community.

Because the question has been asked so frequently in the past, and will probably be asked again in the future, Associated Newspapers is devoting this space to a detailed explanation of how to improve the odds that your story will make the pages of your newspaper.

A community group or civic organization should suggest that the group give one person the responsibility of dealing with the paper. That person should come into the office and discuss with the news editor, the paper's deadline for news items in your community, the type of photographs suitable for inclusion in the paper, and the identifying information for photographs.

In general, any item submitted to your paper will have a better chance of getting in if a few simple guidelines are followed.

Always type submitted material, if possible. It is time-consuming and costly for the newspaper to type material that is submitted in hand-written form. In addition, some people write illegibly and it is almost impossible to read their writing.

When typing information for the story, start the story down in the middle of the first sheet of paper. By leaving the top half of the sheet blank, the editor has space to instruct the typesetters on how to set the story. The space at the top of the paper will also be used to instruct the composition department on what page the material will be printed.

Again, if material is typed, it should be triple spaced. This will allow the editor to correct spelling and grammatical errors. Single-spaced

If the material is submitted handwritten, it should also be triple-spaced on lined paper, and the material should be printed rather than written.

Photographs which accompany any news item submitted to the paper should be black and white, no smaller than two inches square or larger than 8 by 10 inches. All photographs should have the name of the subjects printed on the back, and also the name of the person they are to be returned to.

Color photographs sometimes can be used, but may be rejected by the photo editor, if he believes they will not reproduce properly. No snapshots, please.

If a photograph is necessary to properly support the news item sent in, a call well in advance of the activity should be made to request that a photographer be assigned. While it is impossible for the paper to assign a photographer to all the requested events, we will make every effort to cover events of a broad general news interest.

These few simple guidelines will considerably improve the chances of a submitted story making it into the paper.

NEVER request that your news item be taken over the phone. This practice leads to errors and if the article is worth printing, it is worth printing properly.

Clip this article from the paper and keep it handy for those times when you might wish to submit an article for the paper.

By following these guidelines, you will make our job easier and your article better.

Mayor and wife return from Austria

By Mrs. Joseph Spring

Mayor and Mrs. Justin Emerson of Madelon Street returned home on Oct. 9 after an enjoyable 10-day trip with the Detroit Edison Travel Club. Accompanied by the Mayor's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Bird of Romulus, the couple spent several days in Austria where they visited Kitzbuhel and took trips through the Alps to Innsbruck, Kufstein, Salzburg and various castles.

The highlight of the trip was seeing the decorated herds of cattle being brought down from the summer pastures to their winter quarters at home. They also attended the Oktoberfest at Munich; enjoyed a short trip on the Rhine; visited Heidelberg and Cologne and spent two days in Amsterdam before returning home.

Mrs. Roger Arnett of Riggs Road under went eye surgery for a cataract removal at Beyer Hospital, Ypsilanti, last Thursday, Oct. 13.

After having undergone major surgery at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Mrs. Gale Folks is now recuperating at her home on Robbe Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman McAtee and family of New Boston were Sunday dinner guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Vinton McAtee of West Columbia Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kuerth of Beulah were guests for several days this past week of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Luper of Karr Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stevens of East Huron River Drive and their daughter, Suzanne of Liberty Street, enjoyed a color tour along the Lake Michigan shore line and to Muskegon over last weekend.

Mrs. Hazel Bryan of Wabash Street spent several days last week with her sisters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. George Kuehne at Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson at Montpelier, Ohio.

After having been a patient at Beyer Hospital in Ypsilanti for several days, Nancy Sommer was able to return to her home on Biggs Street on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Robert Robson of Haggerty Rd., Mrs. Ruth Carter of Biggs St., Mrs. Melvin Blausey of Huron River Drive, Romulus, and Mrs. George Bower recently enjoyed a 4-day color tour through northern Michigan.

Mrs. Gurtha Walters, Mother of Clayton Walters of Church Street, has been a patient at Beyer Hospital for several days this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph of Edgar Street spent the past weekend at Pittsburgh, Pa. with their daughter Paula.

After having been a patient at Beyer Hospital for the past four weeks, Mrs. John Tontalo was able to return to the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tontalo of Madelon Street.

Mrs. Hildur Waters left last week Tuesday for her home at Marine, Minn., after spending the past two months with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph of Edgar Street and other relatives in the vicinity.

Members of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES who attended Grand Chapter of Michigan sessions held at Grand Rapids October 10-14 were Anita Nicholson, Worthy Matron; Elizabeth and Walter James, Associate Matron and Patron; officers, Kay Parker, Connie Gubaci, Cora Bradshaw, Lenore Gaddy and Meryle Gouger; and Mae Fielder and Edna Florian who has been appointed chairman of Obituaries of Grand Chapter. Others attending were Ora Holt of Tyler Road and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boldt of Roland Street.

Among those attending the open house at Chelsea Methodist Home Sunday, Oct. 9, were 20 members from Belleville United Methodist Church.

Dorothy Schroeder 'Woman of the Year'

Highlight of the October meeting of the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club (BPW) was the presentation of the club's "Woman of the Year", Dorothy R. Schroeder. An inscribed pin and pink rose were presented the award winner by Rosalie O'Hara, who chaired the Woman of the Year committee.

Mrs. Schroeder, who joined the BPW in 1974, was publicity chairman for two years, currently serves on the bulletin and young careerist committees and just recently helped complete arrangements for Business Women's Week.

A real estate broker and owner of D.R. Schroeder Realtor at 360 Charles St., Belleville, Mrs. Schroeder was born and raised in Belleville and graduated from Belleville High School. She is also a graduate of the University of Michigan Real Estate Extension Service and the Realtor's Institute of Michigan.

She is affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate, the Michigan Association of Realtors, the Local Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors and Realtors National Marketing Institute and is a member of St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

In May of this year she was elected to the presidency of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce of which she served as first vice-president and a member of the board of directors.

She and her husband, Walter C. Schroeder, have three sons and one daughter. Like his mother, Thomas is involved in the real estate business and has two offices in Sacramento, Calif. where his brother, Jeffrey, just recently joined him. Michael, who lives in Van Buren Township, is employed at General Motors Corp. and daughter, Sharon, has a micro film business in California.

Mass, reception mark Taylor's golden wedding

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Adelle (Ed) Taylor was observed at a reception given Oct. 2 by their three children at Roma's of Garden City.

Guests from Pennsylvania, Michigan's Upper Peninsula and area cities were on hand to congratulate the Taylors who were married in Detroit on Oct. 1, 1927.

Mrs. Taylor was Florence Osier when she spoke her wedding vows a half century ago. Children born to the couple are Madeline of Detroit; Donald of Romulus and Raymond of Taylor. There also are 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren in the family.

The day of celebration began for the Taylors when they renewed their wedding vows at St. Gemma's Church during the 10:30 a.m. mass. For her special day, Mrs. Taylor wore a long peach chiffon gown to which she pinned a corsage of two baby white orchids tied with gold ribbon. With her husband, who retired in 1969 from the Ford Motor Company after 45 years employment, she cut the first slice of their 3-tiered wedding cake.

The couple reside at 12858 Riverdale in Detroit.

Airlines rep gives packing demo after Home Arts Club smorgasbord

Red and white checked tablecloths and Italian wine bottles holding multi-colored candles set the mood Oct. 10 for the traditional smorgasbord held by the Home Arts Club of Belleville. Designated with the theme, "International Summit Meeting", the dinner featured special entrees of Mexican, English, Polish, Chinese, Greek and Italian origins with the dessert table including French, Hungarian and Polynesian pies, cakes and pastries.

As each member answered rollcall, she told what dish she had made for the occasion. The 30 attending included seven guests: Cynthia Sam, Phyllis Yonge, Dorothy Curtis, Loretta Daniels, Bea Raymond, Ann Szlinis and Mary Anne Hudge.

The newest additions to the club roster introduced were Sylvia Amerman, Nancy Trevorrow, Toni Schwartz and Joy Hill with Rhoda Chapo and Beverly Sparrow also having joined.

Hostesses for the evening were Virginia Turney and her program committee, Mary Kosin, Lee Smith, Mildred Baker and Avis White.

Lee Smith, who planned the evening activities, introduced Sue Grogan of Livonia, a representative of American Airlines, who presented an interesting and humorous demonstration on packing a suitcase.

Mrs. Grogan, a former flight attendant, was recalled by the airlines to be part of the "Kiwi Speakers Program" which promotes American Airlines. The Kiwi designation, she explained, depicts the New Zealand bird which is rendered flightless due to rudimentary wings.

Using a 24-inch double-sided suitcase, Mrs. Grogan proceeded to fill the crevices, very compactly and uniformly, with the "real" necessities for a trip. She stressed that most people overpack and explained how to take just the minimum and allow space for bringing souvenir and gift items back.

She also suggested taking some very practical accessories such as inflatable hangers, folding carry-on bags and tiny packaged soaps and cosmetics which can cut down the size of bulky boxes and bottles.

During the business meeting conducted by Charlotte Price, the group received the club's itinerary for the year designed in Triotik form with tickets and stubs for upcoming meetings. Several door prizes also were awarded when each person's "ticket" was entered for a drawing.

For the Nov. 14 meeting, members will gather at the home of Virginia Turney on Elwell Road and then proceed to Ray's Greenhouse for its "Greenland Adventure" and to see how Christmas roping and wreaths are prepared for the holiday season.

Lillian Ray will be in charge of the program after which the group will return to the Turney home for refreshments served by Marilyn Prill, Bev Sparrow and Jean Ferguson.

Booster club to assist wrestlers

The wrestling teams of North and South Junior High Schools have a new group, a booster club, looking out for their needs and necessities now that parents have organized to take up the slack which insufficient school funds has created.

Since the existing athletic program is not able to provide for the many needs of the Belleville athletes, the new group hopes to aid in acquiring new equipment or in rejuvenating the old. The purpose of the club is to encourage more boys into wrestling and to have the proper equipment necessary for a well-rounded program.

The first project undertaken by the boosters was a "Tiger Button" sale, the proceeds earmarked for resurfacing the wrestling mats.

The next venture was operation of the concession stand at the annual Powder Puff Football game at the high school Oct. 18.

Parents are urged to attend the meetings, held the first Monday of each month at 7 p.m., Room 115 at Belleville High School.

For further information, please contact D. M. Temple at 485-5759 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and at 697-9211 after 5 p.m.

Tips on caring for jade plants

The jade plant (Crassula argentea) is a slow-growing succulent with fat, fleshy leaves and branching stems that get woody as the plant grows older. Though a native of South Africa and no relation of the rubber tree, the jade plant is also known as the Japanese rubber plant.

According to Michigan State University horticulturists, it is a resilient, easy-to-grow plant. It has no major insect pests. Its most common problem is root rot due to overwatering in the winter. The plant goes dormant and makes very little growth during the winter months, so it needs very little water.

Pot the jade plant in a coarse, well-drained soil and allow the soil to get fairly dry between waterings. Fertilize three or four times a year with any standard houseplant fertilizer. Place the pot in a spot that gets direct sun or bright, indirect light from a sunny window. In direct sun or bright light, the margins of the leaves will turn red.

Cool temperatures — 50-55 degrees F at night and around 70 degrees during the day — are the ideal, but these plants will withstand temperatures ranging from 40 to 100 degrees F without any damage.

ABWA members to attend Salt Lake City convention

Four members of the Huron Valley Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA) will be attending the ABWA National Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah from Oct. 20 to 23 when some 5,000 women are expected to gather to elect the new national officers and attend several workshops.

Three of the women, who will first fly to San Francisco, Calif. with several other ABWA members from the Detroit area, are Hazel Bigham of Romulus, the Chapter delegate; Edith Davenport of Belleville, Chapter president, and Bunny Hardy of Canton, vice-president and Woman of the Year. Rosemary Shinn of Ypsilanti will join them at Salt Lake City.

The local chapter is planning a fall bazaar in hopes of making a big profit so they can add to the coffers which provide scholarships for deserving college women.

Thanks to the American Cancer Foundation, members and guests saw a film, "Straight Talk", and heard the commentary given by Teddy McKinnon concerning BSE (breast self examination) at the Nov. 6 meeting held in Belleville.

New members installed at the last meeting were Bonnie Bannon and Teri Lovall of Ypsilanti; Carolyn Manning of Canton and Amy Osterberg of Belleville.

It's not easy to grow shrubs, ground cover in shady spots

Shady spots can be a real problem for the home landscaper. Most popular shrubs do very poorly in moderate to dense shade. Grass doesn't thrive in shade. Even weeds don't "grow like weeds" when they don't get enough sun.

A few shrubs and ground covers will perform fairly well in shade, however, says Harold Davidson, Extension horticulture specialist at Michigan State University.

"One of the best shrubs for moderate shade is the yew," he suggests. "Hemlock will also do well. Others for moderate shade are the Korean boxwood, the Luecathoe — alow, spreading plant sometimes called Oregon holly — and some of the low-growing cotoneasters."

Ground covers for use in shade spots include Hall's honeysuckle — a flowering creeper — pachysandra, vinca and bearberry. English ivy will grow on the north side of a wall, but it will not thrive in deep shade.

"Generally speaking, flowering shrubs don't do well at all in shade," Davidson says. "They usually need at least a half day of sunlight. An exception is the rhododendron. You can grow it on the north side of a building, but not in dense shade."

Shade-tolerant shrubs will have an even better chance if you pamper them a little, he suggests. Choose and prepare the planting site carefully. Plant in a fertile, well-drained spot. Water during periods of drought, and fertilize as necessary.

"Poor drainage, malnutrition and drought all put stress on the plant," he explains. "A plant growing in shade is already under stress — it doesn't need these other problems, too."

Shrubs grown in the shade tend not to grow as dense as those that get plenty of light. Davidson says homeowners may want to prune plants in the shade more often to keep them compact and under control.

Another way to improve your chance of success with plants grown in shade is to remove or thin the trees that block the sun. "Selective pruning to increase the level of light reaching the planting site will make it possible to grow a greater variety of plants successfully," Davidson says.

'Parenting' class offered at YWCA

The YWCA of Western Wayne County is offering a class on "Parenting" to be held at Geneva Presbyterian Church, 5835 Sheldon Road, Canton.

Ms. Delores Heeg of Family Services of Metropolitan and Wayne County will present information regarding parenting — answering questions and concentrating on concerns of the participants.

The first of six sessions begins Wednesday, Oct. 25, from 9:30 — 11 a.m. The total cost is $12, and childcare is available upon request.

For reservations or further information call YWCA 561-4110.

Anniversary forms available

For those marking wedding anniversaries with celebrations and parties, we have special anniversary forms to fill out. The questionnaires include all the pertinent information needed for putting a story together.

If you are planning to celebrate an anniversary and would like your friends to read about it in The Belleville Enterprise of The Romulus Roman, simply stop by our office at 116 Fourth St., Belleville, or telephone the Suburban Living Editor, Lee Smith, at 697-9191 to have a form mailed out.

We will be happy to accept photographs if they meet with our specifications. Please include one if it's available.

There is no charge for this service.

Garden Club tours Cranbrook

After a brief business meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Deering, members of the Van Buren Garden Club adjourned and traveled to the Tel-Twelve Mall for luncheon on Oct. 11.

At 1:30 p.m. they began a guided tour of Cranbrook Gardens despite very inclement weather. Raincoats and umbrellas were welcome as the group viewed the newly restored Japanese garden and herb gardens. The annual gardens were very much abloom with marigolds, zinnias, blue salvia and red salvia. The trip ended in the vast greenhouse, where potted plants were being prepared for a sale in November. The club members also enjoyed seeing the various specimens of orchids and other exotic plants on display.

Sometimes words simply aren't enough. But flowers say it all.

They are universally understood. And always appreciated.

Call or visit us. We'll help you choose flowers that best express your sentiments. And remember, we can send your flowers almost anywhere.

Master gardener

A certificate and arm patch from the Michigan State University Co-op Extension Service were recently awarded to Mrs. Melvin (Charlotte) Budd of Belleville for completion of the Master Gardener Program. The 10-week course included plant function, soils and nutrition, plant diseases, insects, landscape do's and don'ts, tree and shrub selections, weed control, lawn care, house plants, vegetables and tree fruit. A member of the Huron Valley Garden Club for more than 20 years, Mrs. Budd who is currently on the program committee, has served as club president and secretary. Leading up to her Master Gardener's certificate were other classes and courses on various types of flower arranging and landscaping. Don Juchartz, county extension director, and Gordon E. Guyer, co-op extension director, signed the document.

York Steak House opens in Westland

By D.G. FASSETT
ANP Managing Editor

Diners in this area will for the first time be able to treat themselves to the York Steak House philosophy of "good eating."

York Steak House, a subsidiary of General Mills, currently boasts more than 54 restaurants in 20 states, and they pride themselves on providing the kind of service that has made their chain a success.

According to Regional Manager John Levitt, "We believe in offering dinners in the kind of comfortable atmosphere that is conducive to a pleasant experience. We want to prove to our customers that our service and

York offers a buffet style dinner that begins with your order being placed by number from a large menu located at the front of the store. You select the steak of your choice, from T-bone at $3.49, including salad and baked potato, to their 99-cent ground round.

After ordering, you move along a sparkling clean counter past the desserts. Fresh pie, cake, whipped cream-topped strawberries, and countless other delectable offerings are tastefully displayed. Moving further, you come upon the soft drink, water, and coffee dispensers, with various size cups available.

You now approach the grill where your steak has been cooked to your specifications, and the hot baked potato and roll are placed on your tray. The last stop is the smiling cashier that totals up your order, offering you also the opportunity to smile at the relatively small total price. On the evening that I ate the the York Steak House, the total bill was less than $18.00 for the six complete dinners that were required to satisfy my hungry crew.

Once seated, the waitresses were quick to inquire about the quality of the food. Renee, the hostess serving our table, brought the cream for my coffee that I had forgotten, and again inquired about the food. The kids attacked their steaks with gusto, after burying their potatoes with sour cream. Wife Fran began her leisurely assault on the Top Sirloin she had ordered, and I was thoroughly enjoying the Sautéed Sirloin Tips. Renee once again popped up to inquire about the food. When Fran was slow in responding to the question, Rene asked if she was sure her steak was alright. Fran's reply this time was that the steak was fine, but Renee was not convinced, and insisted on replacing the steak. In just a few short moments, Renee reappeared with another steak and warmed up our coffee.

The survey of the clan revealed that our munchkins were entirely satisfied with their meal, and had by now added York Steak House to their list of good places to stop.

According to John Levitt, and Dick Bourassa, manager, the York Steak House, and its English Tudor motif, provides its customers with the benefits of a comfortable dining room with prices that a family can afford.

Seating over 300, The Westland Center York's is the very first in the Detroit area, but more are on the way.

"We are locating most of our new steakhouses in malls," said Regional Manager Levitt. "We have located our first Detroit-area restaurant in Westland because of its image as a growing dynamic community."

Walking to the car following our dinner, I realized that it definitely was a pleasant experience. The kids were full and my wallet was not empty.

Hours for the York Steak House are: Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Relaxed comfortable dining, clean facilities, excellent food—all add up to York Steak House. You should try it. My family thought it was great.

Detroit Symphony schedules concert

An evening of chamber music, presented by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Woodwind Quintet, will open the eighth season of the Fair Lane Music Guild on Sunday, Oct. 23, 1977.

The concert is set for 7:30 p.m. at historic Fair Lane Conference Center, once the home of Henry Ford. Music by Hayden, Milhaud, Danzi, Ibert, Farkas and Hindemith will comprise the program.

Members of the Woodwind Quintet are all principal wind players from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra whose combined expertise promises a sparkling presentation. They are: Ervin Monroe, flute; Donald Baker, oboe; Robert Williams, bassoon; Eugene Wade, French horn; and Paul Schaller, clarinet.

Season tickets for the Music Guild's five-concert chamber music series are $18. Individual performances are $4.50 for general public and $2.50 for senior citizens and U of M-D student. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Season tickets may be purchased in advance by calling 836-1031.

The complete Fair Lane Music Guild season will include the following concerts in addition to the Woodwind Quintet.

Rogeri Trio - Dec. 13, 1977, 8:30 p.m.

Purcell String Quartet - March 12, 1978, 7:30 p.m.

Amsterdam Sinfonietta - April 30, 1978, 7:30 p.m.

Officers for the Fair Lane Music Guild's 1977-78 season are: Philip Peter, chairman; Joan Irwin, vice chairperson; Barbara Smith, secretary; and Joe Rath, treasurer. Dr. Margarette Eby, former chairperson of U of M-Dearborn's humanities department, served as artistic director for the season.

For further information about any of the concerts, call 271-2300, ext. 402.

Classic guitarist slates performance

Classic guitarist Ray Sealey will perform at The University of Michigan-Dearborn on Monday, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. The free concert is open to the public and will be held in the Fair Lane Conference Center, former home of Henry Ford.

Sealey's performances have been hailed as brilliant. He is "an accomplished artist" whose Cambridge recital was described as both "sensitive and polished."

Sealey has studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music, privately in Toronto and New York, and with Alexandre Lagoya in France after having received a Canada Council grant.

Included in his solo concerts are a wide variety of Music from the 16th Century to contemporary. Sealey has also composed some of the contemporary pieces he performs.

The concert is sponsored by U of M-D's Cultural Events Committee. The music series is under the direction of Anne Parks, assistant professor of music history. For further information, call 271-2300, ext. 402.

Rockets rattle 6th-ranked North

Glenn proves 'it's still the champ'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Farmington Saturday afternoon that the Westlanders are still the champs.

Glenn, winner of the last two Northwest Suburban Conference football titles, devastated the sixth-ranked Class A power, 17-8, to take over undisputed possession of first place and win their fifth consecutive — third in the league — decision of the season.

Right on target

Quarterback Bill Lee's pass to Jerry Cook (above) "was right on the button" as the John Glenn receiver nabbed the ball in the North Farmington end zone to account for one of two touchdowns that paved the way to a 17-8 victory over the previously sixth-ranked state power. Glenn can sew up its third consecutive Northwest Suburban victory at home Friday by beating Livonia Franklin.

The Westlanders wrap up the conference phase of the season Friday night at home to Livonia

Franklin, always a tough customer in football. Glenn needs the victory in order to claim all of the crown; a loss by Glenn to Coach Armand Vigna's Patriots would create a three-way championship with Franklin, North Farmington and Glenn each getting a share.

Glenn got on the board at North in the second quarter as senior quarterback Bill Lee hooked up with slotback Bill Irwin on a 32-yard scoring pass play. That culminated a 65-yard drive.

Then Kal Deluca booted his first of two point-after.

After North failed to dent the Rocket defenses on their next series, Glenn came back with another sustained drive that fizzled at the North 19-yard line where Deluca was called upon for a field goal. The Rocket kicker made good on the chance and lifted the visitors to a 10-0 halftime lead.

The Westlanders cashed in on a poor North punt in the fourth quarter to score an insurance touchdown. They drove from midfield to the two where the Lee-to-Jerry Cook pass combination paid off for a six-pointer.

North averted the shutout in the last minute of the game as running back Jeff Cohen scored from the 12. Quarterback Ron Fredericks ran in the two-point conversion.

"It was definitely a great team effort," Gordon stressed. "Our kids played well in every phase of the game and our game, thanks to Steve Bird, helped us win the battle of field positions."

Bird averaged 45 yards per kick on four of his attempts.

Lee also turned in one of his best performances at quarterback as he chalked up 33 yards in six carries and passed for 97, including the two touchdowns. He connected on six of nine passes.

Cook looked invincible as a linebacker as he counted at least 10 solo tackles while Irwin, at free safety, and Rick Burns, a defensive end were key links in the Rockets' defense.

Glenn's impressive statistics include 241 yards rushing as compared to North's 167. The Rockets rushed for 144 yards with slotback Jerry Cook accounting for 47 of those on seven carries.

Franklin, 2-1 in league play, will be coming off of a 20-14 loss last week from Sterling Heights. The Patriots have amassed a 2-3 record into Friday night's league finale.

Story book ending
Spartans win with field goal

...one second left ...coach calls time out ... his team's losing 14-13 ... looks around and calls on his field kicker. 'It's up to you, now,' he tells the player.

And the player goes in and boots the field goal which gives his team the victory.

In real-life drama, the action took place last Friday at Garden City West. Cherry Hill's Tom Minor was cast in the hero's role as he booted a 39-yard field goal on the last play of the game to lift the Spartans to a 16-14 victory over the hosts.

"It was one of those story book finishes," said Cherry Hill Coach Jerry Pawloski. "I just couldn't believe it. But all of these kids deserve a lot of credit - this victory puts us in the thick of the title race."

The victory was Cherry Hill's (3-1) third in four Tri-River Conference outings and with Dearborn Heights Crestwood's upset of previously undefeated Mevindale (4-1), the Spartans are now only a half-game out of first place.

Crestwood, also 3-1, and Cherry Hill have a date Friday night at 7:30 p.m. to settle their differences. The loser will have to forget about any title ambitions this year.

Pawloski respects the Dearborn Heights team's personnel.

"They have allot of talent over there," Pawloski said, "and they do a lot of different things to throw you off stride like putting in two quarterbacks in their formation at one time and alternating their formations from a wishbone to others.

"So, we're definitely going to have to put in a lot of extra time to get ready for them," Pawloski said.

Garden City got on the board first in their showdown with Cherry Hill last Friday. The Tigers scored on Terry Smith's 45-yard run, but they didn't get the extra point.

Cherry Hill came back midway in the second quarter and tied it up on Minor's 15-yard touchdown run which capped a 45-yard drive.

The Spartans took a 13-6 lead early in the fourth quarter when they capitalized on a fake field goal

But West roared back and scored with 21 seconds left. Gary Ryan found Harland Lee for a 13-yard touchdown pass. Ryan and Smith put the Tigers' ahead 14-13 with the two-point conversion, realized on a pass.

Rick Searcy returned the ensuing kickoff 35 yards to give the Spartans excellent field position. On the first play from scrimmage Dawson hit Sweet on a pass that advanced the visitors to the West 22-yard line.

With 14 seconds left, Cherry Hill

Romulus coaches reply

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Because of the recent controversy stirred by a Romulus parent's letter about athletics in the school district and coach's salaries, the coaches feel they must reply to those questions most frequently asked by the residents.

Here is their reply:

Dear Mr. Mooradian:

The following was prepared with the cooperation of the coaching staffs of the Romulus Community School District. The purpose is to dispell false rumors and instill a better understanding of, "What really happened to the interscholastic sports program in Romulus?"

QUESTION: Why were athletic programs eliminated:

ANSWER: They were eliminated, along with marching band, National Honor Society, elementary art, music, and physical education as part of an economic cutback package adopted by the board of education.

QUESTION: When were athletics eliminated:

ANSWER: The first initial cut of athletic programs came in the spring of 1976. At this time the board of education made several economic cutbacks only one of which was the elimination of all junior high sports programs. The second major cutback of the athletic programs came in November of 1976 when the board of education took further action eliminating all interscholastic athletics at all levels.

QUESTION: If athletics were eliminated why were junior high football, varsity and reserve basketball, varsity and reserve wrestling, varsity and reserve baseball, and varsity track allowed to complete last year:

ANSWER: In August of 1976 a group of concerned parents formed to raise funds to support two junior high football teams. With the consent of the board of education funds were raised and junior high football was able to complete a successful season. With the decision made in November of 1976 to cut all athletics a quick decision concerning the future of winter athletics had to be made. The basketball and wrestling coaching staffs decided to try to raise funds to support their programs and with the consent of the board of education they were able to provide the monies needed to run the winter sports programs. The struggle was not yet over. The spring sport coaches were also faced with the decision of raising funds to support their programs. The school track and baseball programs were able, with the consent of the board of education, to fund their programs and complete the spring sports season.

QUESTION: If athletic programs were funded last year why haven't attempts been made to fund them this year?

ANSWER: First of all, the legality of such funding is not clear. Secondly it becomes difficult to raise funds year after year. Thirdly, and most importantly, the board of education passed a resolution in the spring of 1977 that specifically eliminated raising funds for the athletics or any other school sponsored program. In essence, the resolution says that funds must be solicited through the board of education and cannot be earmarked for specific purposes.

QUESTION: Are athletics important in our society?

ANSWER: It is our opinion that a solid, well rounded athletic program is an integral part of any public educational system. It is every bit as important as math, English, Science, or any other of the educational disciplines for its teaches lessons that are as valuable as any we might ever learn. Where else can one discover the values of teamwork, loyalty, honesty, hardwork, goals, leadership, physical health, and discipline at an age when attitudes are formed that will carry over into later life. With the problems facing young people today more of these wholesome activities should be available, not less of them. Not only are athletics important to students but they provide a rallying point for an entire community. From earliest recorded history athletic competition has been an important part of all great societies and cultures.

QUESTION: Will sports and other extra-curricular activities be reinstated in the near future?

ANSWER: It would be only pure conjecture on our part to say that any programs will be reinstated at any time. This decision has to be made by the board of education and with the view by the board that athletics and extra-curricular activities are not an essential part of the educational plan of Romulus Community Schools we see no way that reinstatement will take place without the addition of added funds in the school district.

Respectfully,
Romulus Coaching Staff

Hi, there

Belleville's Brent Verrot (41) and Livonia Bentley quarterback Pat McKay (white jersey) became well acquainted with one another during last Friday's Belleville homecoming game. Verrot had two sacks of the quarterback, several other tackles and also recovered three fumbles, setting up the only Tiger touchdowns. However, the senior griddier's efforts were wasted as Belleville succumbed to their league rivals, 22-6.

Bentley spoils homecoming for Belleville fans, 22-6

It was a sad and chilly homecoming Friday night for Belleville High football fans.

Livonia Bentley had nothing to do with the weather, but the Bulldogs put a damper on any Tiger celebration as the visitors exploded for two touchdowns in the second quarter and turned a 14-0 halftime lead into a 22-6 Suburban 8 Conference victory.

The Livonians, thanks to the victory, stepped up from the cellar of the league, leaving the lonely spot to Belleville which has now failed to win in its six starts — five in the league.

"We felt we did all the positive things we needed to," said Belleville Coach Pat Stokes, "unfortunately, we also did a lot of negative things out there."

Belleville isn't expected to get any relief from its grid headaches as the Tigers head for Redford Union on Friday. R.U. is coming off of an impressive victory over Allen Park.

One of the bright spots Friday night for Belleville against Bentley was the defensive performance turned in by Brent Verrot who recovered three fumbles. One of those turnovers set up the Tigers only touchdown.

Verrot pounded on a loose ball on the Bentley 8-yard line midway in the third quarter and three plays later Kelvin Patterson scored from the one. The Tigers' bid for the two-point conversion failed.

A Belleville fumble on its own 34-yard line set up Bentley's first touchdown. The Bulldogs scored on the first play of the second quarter on a three-yard pass from quarterback Pat McKay to Pete Varbedian.

Defense rests:

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

After Wayne Memorial and Monroe presented arguments for 12 minutes, Wayne's defense rested Friday night and Monroe didn't need a jury to bring in any verdict — the Trojans did it themselves.

Erupting for three touchdowns in the second quarter, Monroe put away Coach Floyd Carter's Zebras 35-15 in their Great Lakes 8 Conference showdown.

The loss, Wayne's third in the league, left it all alone in the cellar. It also evened up the Zebras' overall record to 3-3 on the season.

Wayne will welcome a homecoming crowd on Friday when it hosts out-of-state, Toledo Whitmer which replaces Wyandotte on the Zebra schedule. Wyandotte, along with Taylor Truman and Taylor Center, didn't field teams this season because of money problems.

"Our defense just collapsed in that second quarter against Monroe,"

Wayne jarred
by Monroe, 35-15

said Carter. "They put together a couple of long drives that ended in touchdowns."

"We have no excuses — they did the job on us," Carter added.

Monroe took the lead with 7:32 in the first quarter as the Trojans marched 60-yards in nine plays and scored on Alexis Braggs' four-yard run. Gene Bozeau then kicked the extra point and the visitors went up, 7-0.

Monroe had it pretty much its own way in the second 12 minutes of the game as they scored in the first minute on Braggs' second of four TDs of the evening. The speedy back culminated a 79-yard, 11-play drive with a 20-yard off-tackle touchdown sprint. Bozeau again came through with the point after.

Almost five minutes later, at 6:49 Monroe was on the board again as Braggs bolted up the middle from the 2-yard line and scored, putting Vigna: 'Our kids have a lot of pride...'

Glenn gives Franklin hope

Though wounded by its third loss of the season, Livonia Franklin is still very much alive.

Ironically, it is Westland John Glenn that has given their Northwest Suburban Conference rivals new life. Glenn, by beating North Farmington last week, has stirred up and rekindled Franklin's title ambitions.

"If North had won last week it would have been all over — they would have had the title all sewed up," explained Armand Vigna, Franklin coach. "Glenn's victory gives us another shot at the title."

"Our kids have a lot of pride," Vigna continued, "and if they could get a share of the championship it would heal some of our wounds."

North (3-1) and Franklin (2-1) need to stop the Glenn (3-0) express in order for all three to end the conference phase of the season with identical records.

And those "ifs" Vigna was referring to are not made up of impossible dreams. The Patriots have always been rough on the Westlanders.

Franklin's defense didn't stand up to the physical abuse meted out by Sterling Heights last week and the Livonians dropped a 20-14 nonleague game.

Trailing 14-0 at halftime, Franklin tied it up with a 14-point surge in the third quarter only to let the decision slip away on the slippery turf.

"We started slowly," Vigna said, "but we were real proud at the way we came back. I felt we should have won the game."

Franklin's offense got untracked early in the third quarter as Dave Bowen capped a 69-yard, six play drive with a 26-yard touchdown run.

Don Boka, inserted as the back-up quarterback, kicked the first of two extra points to make it a 14-7 ball game.

The Patriots tied the game with 49 seconds remaining in the third quarter on slotback Ron Reeder's 15-yard jaunt.

Sterling Heights took the ensuing kickoff and controlled early minutes of the fourth quarter. They put together a 14 play drive which a couple of pass receptions that took them to the Franklin three-yard line where Mike Cullin plowed up the middle for the go-ahead touchdown.

When the Heights missed the point after, Franklin had less than six minutes to counter-attack. The Patriots moved on the next series of plays to the 7-yard line where on a fourth down and goal to go, they tried a pass that sailed over the head of the intended receiver who had slipped in the end zone on the rain-drenched field.

Franklin lost its starting quarterback, Mike Fry, late in the first quarter. Fry sustained a hip injury and was replaced by Boka.

The Patriots had possession of the ball for 34 plays and churned out 272 yards on the ground and 56 (3 of 10) yards in the air for 308 total yards. They had 14 first downs and were penalized four times for 32 yards.

In comparison, the Heights had possession of the ball for 43 plays and quarterback Al Asta made good on eight of 16 tosses for 84 yards. They picked up 241 yards on the ground and had 15 first downs.

"Asta is probably the best throwing quarterback we have seen all year," said Vigna. "He kept his team going by hitting his receivers on key third down and long yardage situations."

Vigna pointed out that, "with the exception of defensive end Mike Broome, the defense let us down. We gave up 20 points. We didn't do the job against them."

Come from behind

Unbeknown to Belleville's Carl Winekoff (44) and Steve Brown (79), the man they were supposed to protect on this play was caught by an on-rushing Livonia Bentley defender. Not only did the play go afoul, so did the Tigers' bid to snap a five-game losing streak.

Spartans are in title chase

unsuccessfully attempted a pass, leaving it one second.

That's when Minor came through with his dramatic field goal.

Dawson had an excellent night as he hit on four of seven passes for 67 yards, including a touchdown. The Spartans gained 120 yards on the ground as compared to West's 130 and the Tigers made good on eight of 17 passes for 60 yards.

West had the edge in first downs 8-7.

Sophomore Randy Frederick led Spartan rushers with 51 yards on 13 carries while Sweet accounted for eight solo and eight assisted tackles. Teammate Wayne Nichols, a linebacker, brought down seven West ballcarriers and assisted on three other tackles and tackle Lou

Carlson clips Huron

"It was the most difficult game for us to lose. I felt we had outplayed them."

That's how New Boston Huron head football Coach Tom LaBeau summed up the Chiefs cliffhanging 26-20 loss to Gibraltar Carlson in double overtime last week.

Disappointed with the Huron Conference setback, LaBeau pointed out that he wasn't disappointed "with our fine defensive performance."

Carlson scored twice in the last quarter to tie the game at 14-all, forcing the issue to an overtime. Both teams exchanged touchdowns in the first overtime, then Carlson tallied the clincher on a twice-deflected pass that fell in the lap of a fallen Carlson receiver.

Tigers head for R.U.

After an exchange of punts, the Bulldogs struck again, this time with their best drive of the evening. With 2½ minutes remaining to intermission, the visitors took over on their own 19 and put together an 81-yard drive that ended with Mark Kaminsky's 8-yard touchdown run.

McKay's pass to Dale Makabust accounted for the two point conversion.

On the ensuing series, Belleville received a 25-yard run by Brian Brinkeroff and managed to get to the Bentley 7-yard line before time ran out on them.

Early in the third quarter Belleville scored to cut into Bentley's lead with its first and what proved to be its only touchdown of the game. The Tigers lost the ball on the Bulldog 25 yard line via a fumble, but Verrot got the ball back when the visitors fumbled on their own 8.

A 34-yard up-the-middle dive play produced Bentley's fourth quarter touchdown. Chuck Roy pulled off the play.

Patterson again accounted for the largest hunk of Tiger yardage as he amassed 104 of the 249 rushing yards on 25 carries. Brinkerhoff had 90 in 10 tries, while Bentley had the edge in first downs 9-8 but not in penalties. The Bulldogs were detected seven times for infractions which cost them 89 yards while Belleville had nine for 107 yards.

Verrot and defensive end Loren Ormanian got the job done on defense, but the Tigers made too many costly mistakes to stop the victory-famished Bulldogs.

Zig-zagging his way

Finding some running room thanks to teammate Paul Svabik's (31) block, John Glenn's Steve Bird (22) heads for huge hunks of North Farmington territory in last Saturday's showdown between the two Northwest Suburban Conference undefeated teams. Glenn showed North that it is still the league champ, claiming a 17-8 victory over the hosts. Coach Chuck Gordon's gridders will have to do the same Friday night when an always-tough Livonia Franklin invades Rocket-town.

Huron got on the board in the second quarter to take a 7-0 lead on Kelley Summerfield's one-yard plunge that put the finishing touches to a midfield drive. Randy Pichan kicked the extra point.

Carlson tied it up 7-7 early in the fourth quarter and Huron looked as if it had its third league win when Pichan engineered a 55-yard sustained drive that ended with Fred Block's three-yard touchdown plunge. Pichan again made good on the extra point.

With one minute left in the game, Carlson tied it up again.

A pass from Pichan to Mark Beattie gave the Chiefs the lead momentarily in the first overtime period. That TD was answered on Carlson's first play via a pass. Neither team made the extra point.

After the Chiefs failed to score in the second extra period, Carlson responded with a third down pass that was deflected twice before it landed in the mitts of a Carlson player who had slipped and was lying on his back.

The Chiefs amassed 252 yards to Carlson's 176, most of which (141) was off of its passing attack. Both teams had 11 first downs and each had approximately 70 yards in penalties.

Block rushed for 83 of the Chiefs' yards on 15 carries and Pichan picked up eight completions on 20 attempts with six sailing out of the hands of his receivers.

Glenn gals dunk Thurston, 109-63

Bolstered by a win over North Farmington, the defending champ, Westland John Glenn's girls swimming team had no trouble with a Redford Township Thurston contingent.

Coach Jean Garbus's Rockets won an overwhelming 109-63 victory over their Northwest Suburban Conference rivals.

"We had a chance to use almost all of our girls in this meet," said Mrs. Garbus whose swimmers are well on their way to winning their first league championship. "However, we can't afford to let up now because the most crucial phase of the season lies just ahead."

The Westlanders swept eight of the 11 events against Thurston with Janet Borgerding, who earlier in the week set a record in diving, dominating the boards again.

Miss Borgerding amassed 156.05 points to top the field in the Thurston meet. Though the Rockets lost to Wayne earlier in the week, she posted the lone victory, setting a Glenn record on the boards with a 174.75 total.

Western pelts Canton

Pelted 35-6 by Walled Lake Western last week, Plymouth Canton's Dave Schuele will attempt to regroup his Chiefs for the final Western Six Conference game Friday night.

Canton will bring the curtains down on the 1977 league campaign at Northville, a team entrenched in second place with a 3-1 record. The Chiefs have failed to win in four league starts and are winless in six games this season.

"I felt that after the Harrison game we had made some progress," Schuele said, "but we just didn't get it done." Walled Lake. I thought we were much better prepared, however, the boys didn't react.

"It was a disappointing defeat," Schuele added. Western struck for seven-pointers in each of the first two quarters and surged ahead 28-0 after three periods. The Chiefs avoided the shutout when Rusty Mandle culminated a midfield drive with a 5-yard touchdown run.

Mandle, who was switched from quarterback to the fullback slots during the game in an attempt to get some offensive mileage, rushed for 50 yards.

The only player who appeared as if he was doing his job on defense was Darryl Ramsier, a defensive halfback who was in on several tackles.

After the Northville finale, Canton will host Dearborn Heights Crestwood (October 28) for homecoming before ending the year at Dearborn, one of the top teams in the Suburban 8 Conference.

A good defensive driver knows that next in importance to the rules of the road are the signs along the highway. These road signs perform three basic functions: they control traffic, warn of possible hazards, and give information. Whatever their purpose, most signs have traditionally used words to convey their instructions. Recently, however, worded signs began giving way to signs that rely mainly on easily recognizable symbols. Memorize the shapes and symbols so that their meanings will be instantly clear when you encounter them from a distance or at high speed.

When signs of engine trouble or other mechanical problems appear in your car, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster, for the parts and tools you need to fix it! We feature a complete inventory of parts, accessories and tools for both foreign and domestic cars. Our knowledgeable staff is always happy to answer questions from do-it-yourself mechanics and to advise you on the proper parts to use. We also offer complete machine shop service and work on any size and type of engine from motorcycle to industrial. Call KOSIN'S at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

Bulldog in the Tigers' midst

Though encircled by Belleville defenders, this fallen Bentley receiver managed to hold on to a pass and help spoil the Tigers' homecoming festivities Friday night. Standing by for action are Loren Ormanian (87), Stan Johnson (18) and Jim McCarthy (51) while teammate Buck Turrentin (37) looks over the fallen Bulldog. The Tigers will try to put the brakes on to a five-game Suburban 8 Conference losing streak Friday night at Redford Union, a team that probably won't cooperate with Coach Pat Stokes' plans.

Wayne, John Glenn runners hurdle key league rivals

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

While it surely wasn't a true test of their running talents, undefeated Wayne Memorial tramped Monroe for its eighth consecutive cross country victory of the season.

Meanwhile, Westland John Glenn got by a key foe, Thurston, 26-21, to remain in the Northwest Suburban title chase, and Cherry Hill is awaiting Crestwood, a team that can detour Coach Joe Grasley's express for a fifth successive Tri-River Conference championship.

Monroe was no match for Coach Ernie Righetti's rampaging Zebras who swept the first four places before a Trojan runner appeared at the finish.

Led by undefeated Rick Blaha, Wayne will travel to the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus Saturday to compete in that school's annual invitational.

"Fordson and Farmington are probably the two teams we're going to have to keep our eyes on over there," Righetti said. "Though we have beaten them in previous meets, they have shown some pretty good times of late."

Blaha toured the 3-mile Wayne course in 15:19 against Monroe and he was followed across the finish line by teammates Doug Tolson (15:26), Paul Spencer (15:58) and Ron Mason (16:01).

Wayne finished seventh, eighth and ninth with Mark Michalowski (16:45), Tim Quaintance (16:52), and Gary Dykes (17:13).

With their shoulders up against the wall because of an opening conference loss to Garden City East, Westland John Glenn has bounced back to edge Thurston 26-31 and dump North Farmington 20-42 to pad their Northwest Suburban record to 2-1.

"We're looking more like legitimate contenders right now," said Glenn Coach Jerry Szukaitis. "But we'll know more about ourselves when we run Livonia Franklin on Thursday."

"That meet is the key for us," the Rocket skipper announced.

North had the No. 1 runner in Paul Welch who covered the 3-mile Oakland Community College Course in 16:09. Trailing Welch to the wire was Glenn's Mark Johnson (16:20), Jim Kancierz (16:39), Tom Andrews (16:43), Randy Gabrys (16:44) and Jim Barber (16:44).

Steve Chambers and Jim Green finished eighth and ninth with 16:53 and 17:13 performances respectively for the Westlanders.

Earlier in the week Glenn competed in the Redford Union Invitational where it finished third in a field of 20 teams. Farmington captured top honors with 83 points, Livonia Stevenson was runner-up (145), while Glenn garnered 164 points.

Glenn's finishers were: Johnson (25), Kancierz (26), Barber (33), Randy Gabrys (38) and Andrews (41).

Cherry Hill dumped Garden City West 18-40 and will clash with Crestwood on Thursday to determine which team will be labeled the team to beat in the conference.

"It's going to be a tough meet," Grasley announced.

Against West, Cherry Hill nailed down the first three spots with Ramon Lara (15:20), Keith Leverston (15:46) and Mike Michno (15:50).

The Spartans also had the fifth and eighth best runners in Kurt Smith (16:05) and John Ireland (16:12), while Scott Johnson (16:34) and Jim Bodner (16:38) contributed ninth and 10th places respectively.

On Saturday, Cherry Hill's drive to Metropolitan Beach Parks paid off in a runners-up trophy at the annual Bishop Gallagher Invitational. The Spartans had 94 points and finished behind Holly (32) in the field of 20 teams.

A 1st for Zebras tankers

Wayne gals dunk John Glenn

A thorn in its side the past few years, Wayne Memorial ended arch rival, Westland John Glenn's domination in swimming over its girls' team with a convincing 105-67 victory.

It was the first time since the two teams have competed against one another that Wayne has emerged the winner.

Wayne swept 10 of the 11 events in chalking up its fourth victory in five starts.

The Batterson sisters - Kelly Tracy and Gretchen - were instrumental in winning five of those 10 events. Kelly was the meet's lone double event winner as she churned a 27.5 to set a school record in claiming the 50-yard freestyle. She won the 100-yard butterfly with a 1:08.7 effort.

The three sisters teamed with Julie Johnston to also set a record in the 400-yard freestyle. The foursome was clocked in 4:17.2.

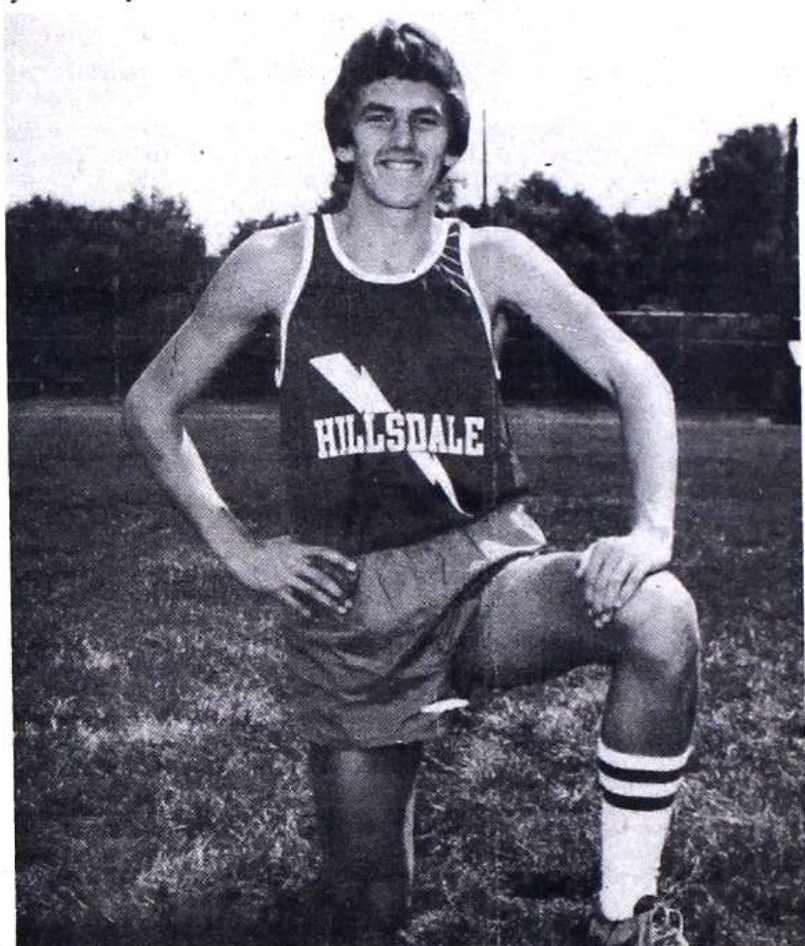

Glenn's lone winner was Janet Borgerding who established a new Rocket high for the diving when she amassed 174.75 points.

"Our girls did an excellent job," said Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin. "I was especially pleased with Julie Johnston's performances in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle events and Kelly Batterson's efforts in the 50-yard freestyle."

Wayne also launched the defense of its Great Lakes 8 Conference championship last week with an easy 113-59 triumph over Fordson. The Zebras will be back in the pool Thursday at Lincoln Park. The meet will begin at 4 p.m.

Meet results: Wayne Memorial 105, Westland John Glenn 67.

Back in action

Despite an injury which had led to pain in his leg, Billy Johnson, former Cherry Hill cross country and track star is determined not to sit out his sophomore year at Hillsdale College. Johnson will be back on the track this week when the Bulldogs compete at the Wayne State University Invitational Cross Country Meet.

Over 30 men's hockey league begins action

With four games on its schedule for opening day, the Westland-Wayne men's Over 30 Hockey League began the 1977-78 season last week.

In the first game of the season, 52nd Show Bar started slow as it parlayed a 3-goal lead into a 7-2 victory over Brock Builders. Jerry Grubbe fired in three goals and two assists while Rod Dittmar added a goal and two assists.

Paced by Roger Hanchett's five goals, Tasee Freezers edged Johnson Carbonic 7-5 in their first confrontation of the season. Ken McKee added a pair of goals for the winners.

Leading the Johnson assault was Ron Johnson with a pair of goals and an assist. Teammate Lee Calloway chipped in with a goal and two assists.

The 4-Seasons Sporting Shop came from behind to top Jack's Sports 4-2. The winners surged ahead with a three goal third period as Norm Beasley scored a pair of goals to spark the winners.

Westland hockey registration set

The Westland Hockey Association is accepting registration for its various leagues this month. Registration will be held until October 31.

Each skater will be allowed to compete in league action.

There is a $18 registration fee which covers insurance for the player, hockey socks, and the use of the uniforms.

For further information, please contact the following persons: Chuck Cooney (722-3143), Andy Lakatos (728-7861), Jim Somervell (981-1867), Chuck Boyd (397-0623), Larry Liebert (274-6504) and John Browning (522-0018).

The Westland Hockey Association also still has openings on all of its hockey teams for ages 5 to 18 for the season. Please contact the above mentioned coaches for further information.

Ex-Spartan runner competes despite pain

Despite agonizing pain and injury, Bill Johnson, former Cherry Hill All-Area and All-Tri-River Conference track ace is back in action for Hillsdale College's cross country team.

Johnson's injury was diagnosed by the doctors as a stress fracture of the fibula.

Because of the injury, Johnson has lessened the amount of miles he is running and he has not competed for the Chargers since September 3 because of the pain caused by the injury.

But the determined sophomore has not let the injury stop him altogether. Now that he knows the nature of the pain he plans to compete in the Wayne State University Invitational.

"I will be running with a certain amount of pain," Johnson said. "I just don't want to sacrifice all that work I have done this year and not compete at all — that's why I am determined to run."

Johnson has been a key performer for the Bulldogs since breaking into the starting lineup a year ago as a freshman. He makes his home with his parents at 1973 Hayes Court in Northville.

Churchill runners fall

With one loss, Livonia Churchill could have salvaged its Western Six Conference cross country title.

But, with two losses tied to its record, Coach Dave Westover's Chargers have placed their title in jeopardy.

Waterford Mott handed the defending champs their second loss in the league last Thursday, 25-30, and it was only the second time in the league's history that the Livonians have been defeated.

"We ran pretty good," said Coach Westover, "however, they ran better. Waterford Mott has an excellent team. Obviously, with this season loss, our chances of repeating the championship have diminished considerably."

Churchill has won the last seven league championships.

Senior Tobin Jones provided the Chargers with a first place as he toured the 3-mile course in 16:10. However, the next Charger to cross the finish line was Dennis Flamme who was clocked with the fifth best time of 16:49. Teammate Bob Stansberry was sixth (16:50), while Ken Gaskell (17:07) and Kevin Paul (17:28) were eighth and 10th, respectively.

Churchill finished sixth in a field of 26 teams at the annual Redford Union Invitational. The Chargers who picked up 194 points, received a seventh place performance from their ace, Jones. Jones' time was 16:30.

Stansberry and Flamme contributed a 28th and 31st for the Chargers' cause.

Farmington captured the invitation with 83 points, followed by Livonia Stevenson which piled up 145. Westland John Glenn was third with 164 points.

Last chance

By SAM GRISSOM
Outdoor Writer

With the trolling season just about over, it's time to head for the streams.

The rivers and streams are crowded with chinook and coho salmon intent on spawning. Following close on their tails are big fall run steelhead just as intent on eating the salmon eggs as the salmon are laying them.

Many different types of baits and lures are used at this time of the year with none being any more effective than another.

Last week on the Big Manistee River a small char- treuse with firedot Fireplug was producing many fine steelhead as well as some exceptionally fresh run salmon.

Contrary to popular belief these big salmon will hit a properly presented lure.

The Big Manistee River below Tippy Dam seems to be one of the more popular rivers and it probably produces more fish than any other.

The best method is to cast the lure out and let it "back down" through the holes and runs. Another lure I've found effective is the Friskey Fly. It can be fished by tying directly to the main line, however, I've found the most effective method is to use a three-way swivel and a four to five foot leader. You can add enough weight to take your lure to the bottom and still minimize your chances of snagging.

One often overlooked spot to fish is the shoreline near the river mouths. Fish found in these locations seem a little more eager to strike your bait and you can usually fish heavier lures.

For the artificial bait fishermen point out the most effective lures are small wobbling spoons in blue and silver. The Kastmaster and the Little Cleo have produced most of my fish in these areas.

Regardless of how effective these lures may be none seem to produce the number of hits as the old standby, spawn.

Both cured and raw spawn are effective and I've found that the only difference between the two is personal preference.

Normally when fishing the surf you should fish a line as light as you feel comfortable with. It has been proven time and time again that light line catches more fish.

The Huron River below Flat Rock is starting to produce both salmon and steelhead. While snagging is allowed there, remember that only snagged salmon may be kept. One method that should be quite effective is to use a small boat to locate the holes you feel the fish will be holding in.

Using your boat's motor to hold you above the hole you should then allow your lure to back through the hole.

Lures like the Flatfish, Fireplug, and the Tadpolly are excellent.

The key is perseverance.

One trip through the hole is not enough. With the cooler water temperatures the fish tend to be sluggish so a dozen trips is more in line.

Winter steelhead fishing is without the hardest type of fishing imaginable. Not only do you have to endure the elements, the wrath of your wife, and the ridicule of your friends, you will also have doubts about your sanity.

But catch one big winter run steelhead and you will learn what "big fish fever" really is.

Monroe destroys Wayne

the cap to a 27-yard drive in seven plays.

Wayne came alive on the ensuing kickoff and quarterback Mark Korte engineered a 79-yard, eight play drive that ended with Mike Wilson scoring from 34 yards out.

But Braggs squelched any uprising with his fourth touchdown of the half. He combined with Jim Bunkelman on a 63-yard pass-run play that took the steam out of the Zebras and gave the visitors an insurmountable 28-7 halftime lead.

Wayne came back in the third quarter and controlled the first five minutes. The Zebras jetted down the field after the kickoff, using up five minutes to grind out 98 yards in 12 plays and scored on Korte's pass to Larry Vojtkosky but Wayne couldn't overcome the huge deficit.

Korte ran in the two-point conversion to account for Wayne's final points.

Carleton Glen hosts Jr. tourney

Carleton Glen Golf Club is holding its Second Annual Autumn Junior Golf Classic on Sat., October 22.

Open to junior and senior high school students, the classic will have five divisions: 7th & 8th combined grades, 9th grade, 10th grade, 11th grade, and 12th grade.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place in all five divisions.

In addition to these trophies, special golfer award certificates will be given to players in the 7th and 8th grades who score below 105, freshmen below 100 sophomores below 95, juniors below 90, and seniors below 85 for the eighteen hole round.

Last year, golfers from 22 schools participated.

This year, Carleton Glen has added the new 7th and 8th grade division, more trophies, including a trophy for longest drive, and one for closest to the pin.

The $7.50 entry fee covers green fees, trophies, awards, bag tags, and lunch and may be paid at tee time, or in advance, to Carleton Glen Golf Club, 13470 Grafton Road, Carleton, Mich. Early entries, may call (313) 654-6201 for an assigned tee time, Friday, Oct. 21.

The eleventh and twelfth grade divisions will begin teeing off at 9:30 a.m. and the others will start at 11:00 a.m.

Located about 6 miles southwest of Flat Rock, the golf club is only 1 1/2 miles south of exit No. 8 off the new I-275 expressway.

Tiger Swim Club nipped
by Milan in season debut

Despite some outstanding first meet performances, Belleville's Swim Club was left on the shortend of a 375 to 353 dual meet decision against Milan.

The Tigers, coached by Doug Stosick and Scott Forner this year, are competing in a newly organized Super Six League which also includes Plymouth, Ypsilanti, Willow Run and Chelsea.

Returning with first place ribbons against Milan were Mollie Murphy who won the 50-yard freestyle in 31.9 for 9-10 year olds, and, in the same age group, Dan Dubsky finished third in the 50-yard freestyle with a 37.9.

Cathy Kubiskie turned in a 30.4 to win the 50-yard freestyle in the 11-12 age group and Laura Kuhr was clocked in 27.98 to top the 13-14 field in the same event.

The girls' 11-12 200-yard medley relay team of Vicchy, Blackstone, Kubisky and Wallerslaet was clocked in the winning time of 2:02.58.

Amy Zurich posted a 20.4 to finish fourth in the 25-yard freestyle for 8-and-under girls and Don Nichols duplicated that feat in the boys division. He was clocked in 21.5.

The Tigers will return to the pool on October 25 when they take on area rival, Ypsilanti, at Ypsilanti High School.

Glenn tankers
2nd at Belleville

Westland John Glenn needed but didn't get a second place in the final event of the Belleville Relays.

Consequently Coach Jean Garbus' girls remained the "bridesmaids" of the annual meet held Saturday. The Westlanders came within two points of upsetting Ypsilanti, the defending champ.

Ypsilanti sealed the victory by winning the 400-yard freestyle relay, while Glenn finished fourth. The champs garnered 35 team points to retain the title; Glenn was runners-up again with 33, while Wayne Memorial picked up 27 points.

Belleville had 18 and Lincoln Park finished with nine.

"We needed to finish ahead of Ypsilanti in the 400 freestyle relay," Mrs. Garbus commented, "but we just didn't muster enough strength. However, I'm still satisfied with the way our girls performed. We finished second and I had my doubts that we could finish that high."

Four new meet highs were set — two each by Ypsilanti and Glenn.

Glenn also won three of the eight events, capturing top honors with its 200-yard freestyle relay, (Candy Sanders, Mary Wilber, Kelly Lang and Michele Kubiak) and also claiming the diving relay with excellent efforts by Janet Borgerding and Diane Bonerek who amassed a record-setting 192.65 points.

The Westlanders also won the 200-yard backstroke relay with Michele Kubiak, Kelly Lang, Denise Arbini and Lisa Curnutte.

Wayne High's lone triumph came in the 200-yard relay where Batterson, Terri Discher, Lorraine Shaffer and Sandy Parker combined for a 2:09.84.

Set 20 meetings on rules

To bring coaches and players up to date on the latest changes in rules and regulations, the Michigan High School Athletic Association will hold 20 basketball meetings throughout the state this month and in November.

Ypsilanti High School will host one of the meetings scheduled for Monday, October 31.

At each of the meetings, pertinent MHSAA matters will be discussed, along with 1977-78 basketball rules changes and points of emphasis in the basketball rules, which will be discussed by a MHSAA representative.

Drought ends
Robichaud claims SAC grid title

Turning in a brilliant defense and capitalizing on a pass interception, Robichaud edged previously undefeated Highland Park 7-6 to clinch a share of its first Suburban Athletic Conference football championship.

If Coach Bob Yauck's Bulldogs can get past Ecorse and its premier quarterback Derrick Underwood on Friday, the Dearborn Heights gridgers will have the championship outright.

"Ecorse can get a slice of the title by beating us," said Yauck, "so they have something at stake in this game. And Underwood is always a threat — he can kick, run and pass which means we can't afford a letdown."

Last year Underwood booted a 64-yard field goal, a Michigan High School Athletic Association record.

For three quarters Robichaud and Highland Park dueled to a standstill as neither could break the others' defenses. Midway in the final quarter, Robichaud's Darrell Goree set up the Bulldogs when he picked off a pass and ran it back 15 yards to the Parkers' 25-yard line.

Robichaud quarterback Calvin Carter used up five plays to move his team to the four, then on the sixth play he chose Roger McGhee on an off-tackle play and the Bulldog running back went into the end zone.

What proved to be the decisive point of the game was contributed by Bob Yauck Jr., the coach's son, who booted the extra point.

Highland Park kept the outcome of the game in doubt when it launched its first and only serious drive of the game and marched to the Bulldog 10 where on a fourth down, quarterback Dave Fogel combined with Kevin Davis on a 10-yard scoring pass.

The Parkers elected to go for the two-point conversion but were foiled by Yauck who stopped Fogel short of the goal line.

Highland Park attempted an onside kick which wound up out of bounds. Robichaud then ran out the clock to seal the victory.

"The game was won in the trenches," Yauck pointed out. "Our defensive line did an exceptional job — it held them to 12 yards rushing."
